President Sees Hope In Rights Law Response

the generation of Americans to come."

The president, at his ranch in Texas, said initial response to the new law had been "wonderful and very hopeful."

He announced the appointment of Arthur H. Dean, a New York attorney and former U.S. negotiator in disarmament talks at Geneva, as head of a national citizens committee to help seek compliance with the measure.

Dean's committee will advise Collins and his community relations service.

FIRST AT HOTEL

In Kansas City, 13-year-old Gene Young of Jackson, Miss., got a haircut in the barber shop at the historic Muehlebach Hotel. He was believed to be the first Negro ever served there.

The boy climbed down from the chair, paid his $2 and said, "It's a good haircut."

He was sent to the barber shop by the Congress of Racial Equality, holding its national convention in the hotel, to test the new rights law.

Hotel manager Herbert Shue said, "I don't think we'll have any more problems."

In Mobile, Ala., Morrison's Cafeterias announced it would serve Negroes in its chain, the largest in the South, rather than "buck the federal government."

'NO OTHER WAY

"We're going to obey the law," said J. H. Gibbons, president of the firm. "There is no other way."

Many of the chain's 41 cafeterias in seven Southern states had been targets for sit-in demonstrations and picketing.

In Washington, Thurmond charged the Navy official in Pennsylvania with being in "direct conflict" with the new law by requiring contractors to hire Negro workers.

He released a letter he said was written by the Navy material inspector in Pittsburgh suggesting that contractors contact the Urban League and National Association for the Advancement of Colored People for Negro applicants to fill job vacancies on government work.

The case proves "the government is not interested in equal employment opportunities, but rather in giving preferential treatment to Negroes to obtain the political benefits of the Negro bloc vote," Thurmond said.

MISSISSIPPI CONTACT

The Texas White House reported the President discussed the bill by telephone with Mississippi Gov. Paul Johnson. The governor told the President the bill should be tested in court before being put into force, the White House said.

In New York, Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP, said his group would concentrate on getting voluntary compliance with the measure rather than seeking a test case in the courts.

"We're not in the business of getting people to make complaints," he said.

But the NAACP director for Mississippi, Charles Evers, said in Jackson he would file a complaint with the Justice department over alleged discrepancies in registering Negro voters at the Hinds County Courthouse.

SEES 'DISAPPOINTMENT'

He and other Negroes were refused for a variety of reasons as they tried to register to vote. "We can see a number of discrepancies right away," Evers said.

The Georgia Restaurant Association announced in Atlanta that "we have no alternative" but to comply with the law, which bars racial discrimination in public accommodations.

Vern Allen, of Florence, S.C., president of the South Carolina Innkeepers Association, said, "I can't foresee any trouble in the state."

PICKRICK SAYS:

LESTER MADDOX

WE WILL BE CLOSED ALL DAY, JULY FOURTH, so that we can join with tens of thousands of Georgians, and thousands of patriotic Americans from other states, in the South's greatest patriotic rally of all time, at Lakewood Park in Atlanta. This will be an important celebration in a rededication to the principles of the Declaration of Independence . . . a history-making event of national interest, and I don't want to miss it. Hope to see you there from 10:30 A.M. to 2:00 P.M.

WE WILL BE OPEN

as usual, on Sunday, July 5th, from 11:00 A.M. to 8:30 P.M., and we would be most happy to have you stop by and visit with us. And, remember this, we are segregated . . . and according to the U. S. Constitution we will always be that way.

AND TO THOSE

of you who wonder why Atlanta cannot get many people to attend the ball games at Ponce de Leon Park, just attend one game and mix with the racial agitators and the drunks, and you will know why . . . and you will understand why we still will not have large attendance when our fifty million dollar stadium is completed. And if you want to see some rotten things that have taken place in your capital city, visit our swimming pools, that our city officials should not even let operate. They are almost segregated, again, as all of the sensible whites have long ago quit going to the pools, and the property owners left in the communities are now victims of the renegade whites and the race mixers.

THE BALL GAME TONIGHT

at Ponce de Leon Park, "Stars vs. Atlanta Vips," for the purpose of raising funds for children's charities, should be most interesting to those who want to see the show and see race mixing at its finest. To the Manager of the Atlanta Vips, I suggest the following positions for some of your top players: Mayor Ivan Allen, having gone so far to the "left," should play left field, and do an excellent job. Police Chief Herbert Jenkins should be umpire. He has done such an excellent job of training his men to catch drivers on caution lights, starting or stopping too soon, rolling too fast down a hill, changing lanes too early . . . or too late, etc., that he should be able to see and make close decisions at the plate and the base, that no other umpire could possibly see.

Too bad they did not include integrationists McGill and Patterson, they could both make good substitutes for Mayor Allen, in left field . . . and it would have made all of the race mixers extremely happy.

a dirty blot upon American history, that three police officers were slain in Gwinnett County; other police officers in Georgia and throughout America have been slain; law-abiding citizens in many cities and states are being shot, beaten, stabbed, robbed, raped . . . and millions of dollars being lost by good American citizens in property damage . . . and the White House, the U. S. Congress, Justice Department, most Governors and most big city mayors, plus major news media, some religious leaders, and business and labor leaders are not concerned. Yet when three civil rights agitators come up missing in Mississippi, Uncle Sam, the Communists, the left-wing news media and other wild-eyed socialists and race mixers . . . put on the greatest search and investigation in the history of America. It is a sad thing that three Americans are missing in Mississippi, but who can take the blame but the Communists who have been training and financing these young people to go into Mississippi, along with our own government and people in the news media, labor, business and elsewhere who have encouraged these actions that bring death, violence, property destruction and disobedience to civil law? Yes, these are the ones responsible, and they have brought more hate, scorn, discord and disunity to this nation than has been ours during the 20th Century. Yes, our own leaders who should be helping to build a greater and stronger America are following the Communist plans to destroy our people and our country.

a lunch counter marked "for colored only" and were served without incident.

SNCC workers said they will later test a movie theater and the Albany municipal swimming pool that was sold last year to Albany newspaper publisher James Gray, a staunch segregationist.

More than 100 Negroes in Savannah, directed by Hosea Williams, leader of the Freedom Now Movement, and Banajamin Van Clarke, integrated cafeterias, restaurants, bowling alleys, taxicabs and swimming pools.

Williams said there was difficulty in integrating some taxicabs.

"We will try to negotiate with the company before bringing suit," Williams said. He said tests will next be carried out at drive-in theaters, drive-in restaurants and hotels and motels. Morrison's cafeteria, longtime holdout against integration in Savannah, announced Friday it would serve Negroes. J. H. Gibbons, president of Morrison's food chain, said: "We're going to obey the law. There is no other way. We can't buck the federal government."

In Valdosta, a group of Negroes sat in three restaurants for more than an hour after they reported being refused service. Twenty of a group of about 30 Negroes integrated a previously all white Valdosta theater.

H. L. Wright, spokesman for the Valdosta group, said a suit would be filed against establishments that refused to obey the new law.

Several places, including a grill, a theater and three restaurants, were integrated without incident in Thomasville.

A theater in Americus, another onetime hot spot of racial tension, admitted Negroes for the first time without incident, it was reported.

Picture in Paper Means Slim-Down

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Mrs. J. E. Pitts visited the family doctor shortly after a picture of her husband appeared in a Memphis newspaper.

"Saw your husband's picture," the doctor said as she was leaving. "Here, he needs this. Make him follow it."

He handed her a diet sheet.

NAACP Accuses Goldwater of Injecting Race

NEW YORK (UPI) — Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), Friday accused Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater and his followers of injecting "racism" into the presidential campaign.

Wilkins leveled the charge at a news conference called to outline NAACP moves to follow-up Thursday's passage of the civil rights act.

how") during the longest filibuster on record.

His advice for compliance came only after the law was on the books.

Asked about the political implications of the law, Talmadge said, "There is no doubt in my mind but what it will cause votes both ways."

"It is too early to see the ultimate end" of the policial effect, he commented. "I do not think the President is nearly as strong in Georgia or the other Southern states as he was several weeks ago."

Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater's "voting against the bill will be helpful to him in some areas of the South," if he is the Republican presidential nominee, Talmadge said.

Goldwater's candidacy might hurt some fellow senators in the East, but "some senators in the West and Midwest think Sen. Goldwater may help their candidates for Congress and other offices," the Georgia senator added.

Talmadge will make speeches in Jasper and Canton Saturday and return to Washington Sunday night.

He was interviewed on the television program by Constitution Editor Eugene Patterson and Political Editor Reg Murphy.

Reds to Sell Air Weapons To Indonesia

JAKARTA (UPI)—Air Force Commodore Budiardjo said Friday the Soviet Union has agreed to sell Indonesia "the most modern weapons" available for air battles.

The commodore said Indonesia is now ready to face British rockets.

He told the official Antara news agency his mission to Moscow netted "extraordinary" results.

He said the weapons would be useful for Indonesia in its anti-Malaysia campaign.

Budiardjo went to Moscow last month to discuss acquiring Soviet weapons Indonesia wants in order to build up its air force's striking power and defense capacity.

photographers questioned the three. "We are still hungry," said the Rev. Willis. "We'll be back."

The crowd continued to grow, until by the time the restaurant closed at 8:45 p.m., three hours after the incident, an Associated Press estimate placed the number of white people there as near 200.

Many of those carrying ax handles, picked up from boxes just inside the restaurant's entrance, were women and children. Maddox said, "I appreciate anybody's aid who wants to help me protect my property."

Rev. Willis said he does not know when the three will return to the restaurant, "But we will."

The three discussed returning Friday afternoon, but they decided against it. "I am worried about what they would do to my car," the Rev. Willis said.

Maddox said his policy will continued to be the same.

"WHY DO THE HEATHEN RAGE?"

The following concerning Hon. Winston Churchill is taken from the book, "Battle-Tested Religion," by Captain T. Christie Innes. "I sometimes have a feeling—in fact, I have it very strongly—a feeling of interference. I have a feeling sometimes that some guiding hand is interfering. I have a feeling that we have a GUARDIAN because we serve a great cause, and that we shall have that GUARDIAN so long as we serve that cause faithfully." Thus confided the British Prime Minister, as reported by the London Daily Express in the first part of August, 1943!

This man has been a soldier, a man of war since the latter part of the past century. But he has also been a student of Holy Scripture, and in 1911, at a critical point when about to make an epoch-making series of changes at the Admiralty where he became First Lord (from 1911-15), he tells us a profound spiritual message which he received, and we let him tell it himself. "Early in October (1911) Mr. Asquith invited me to stay with him in Scotland. The day after I arrived there, on our way home from the links, he asked me quite abruptly whether I would like to go to the Admiralty. He had put the same question to me when he first became Prime Minister. This time I had not doubt what to answer. All my mind was full of the dangers of war. I accepted with alacrity. I said, 'Indeed I would.' . . . The fading light of evening disclosed in the far distance the silhouettes of two battleships steaming slowly out of the Firth of Forth. They seemed invested with a new significance to me.

"That night when I went to bed, I saw a large Bible lying on the table in my bedroom. My mind was dominated by the news I had received of the complete change in my station and of the task entrusted to me. I thought of the peril of Britain, peace-loving, unthinking, little prepared, of her power and virtue, and of her mission of good sense and fair play. I thought of mighty Germany, towering up in the splendour of her Imperial State and delving down in her profound, cold, patient, ruthless calculations. I thought of the army corps I had watched tramp past, wave after wave of valiant manhood, at the Breslau manoeuveres in 1907; of the thousands of strong horses dragging cannon and great howitzers up the ridges and along the roads around Wurzburg in 1910. I thought of German education and thoroughness and all that their triumphs in science and philosophy implied. I thought of the sudden and successful wars by which her power had been set up. I opened the Book at random, and in the 9th Chapter of Deuteronomy I read: "'Hear, O Israel: Thou art to pass over Jordan this day, to go in to possess nations greater and mightier than thyself, cities great and fenced up to heaven. 2. A people great and tall, the children of the Anakims, whom thou knowest, and of whom thou hast heard say, who can stand before the children of Anak! 3. Understand therefore this day, that the Lord thy God is He which goeth over before thee; as a consuming fire He shall destroy them, and He shall bring them down before thy face; so shalt thou drive them out, and destroy them quickly, as the Lord hath said unto thee. 4. Speak thou not in thine heart, after that the Lord thy God hath cast them out from before thee, saying, For my righteousness the Lord hath brought me in to possess this land: but for the wickedness of these nations the Lord doth drive them out from before thee. 5. Not for thy righteousness, or for the uprightness of thine heart, dost thou go to possess their land; but for the wickedness of these nations the Lord thy God doth drive them out from before thee, and that He may perform the word which the Lord aware unto thy fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.'

"It seemed a message full of assurance." (The World Crisis, pp. 48, 49, MacMillan Co. 1931.)

"There is also an enlightened illustration of how words of Scripture occupy his thinking in his tremendous book of speeches, 'Blood, Sweat and Tears,' where his broadcast of Feb. 9, 1941, entitled 'Put your confidence in us,' is given. He is speaking of the British tearing to shreds the Italian Empire in Africa. . . . At that time I ventured to draw Gen. Wavell's attention to the seventh chapter of the Gospel of Matthew, at the seventh verse, where, as you all know—or ought to know—it is written: 'Ask, and it shall be given; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.' The Army of the Nile has asked, and it was given; they sought, and they found; they knocked, and it has been opened unto them. In barely eight weeks, by a campaign which will long be studied as a model of military art, an advance of over 400 miles has been made. The whole Italian Army in the east of Libya, which was reputed to exceed 150,000 men, has been captured or destroyed. The entire province of Cyrenaica—nearly as big as England and Wales—has been conquered. The unhappy Arab tribes, who have for thirty years suffered from cruelty of Italian rule, carried in some cases to the point of methodical extermination, these Bedouin survivors have at last seen their oppressors in disorderly flight, or led off in endless droves as prisoners of war. . . . The events in Libya are only a part of the story; they are only a part of the decline and fall of the Italian Empire, that will not take a future Gibbon so long to write as the original work." (op. cit. pp 456-7).

"When Mr. Churchill made his historic visit to the United States and addressed both houses of Congress on Dec. 26, 1941, he concluded with a thrillingly appropriate quotation from Psalm 112:7. As long as we have faith in our cause and an unconquerable will-power, salvation will not be denied us. In the words of the Psalmist, 'He shall not be afraid of evil tidings; his heart is fixed, trusting in the Lord.' Not all the tidings will be evil." "But no more characteristic passage could be found in his extensive writings than that which we read in his Thoughts and Adventures (MacMillan and Co., p 292), in the course of his chapter on the mighty leader, Moses. After briefly examining the whole question of miracles, and the many attempts to explain them 'rationally,' he goes on:

All these purely rationalistic and scientific explanations only prove the truth of the Bible story. It is silly to waste time arguing whether Jehovah broke His own natural laws to save His Chosen People, or whether He merely made them work in a favorable manner. At any rate, there is no doubt about one miracle. This wandering tribe, in many respects indistinguishable from numberless nomadic communities, grasped and proclaimed an idea of which all the genius of Greece and all the power of Rome were incapable. There was to be only one God, a universal God, a God of nations, a just God, a God Who would punish in another world a wicked man dying rich and prosperous; a God from whose service the good of the humble and of the weak and poor was inseparable.'

"Books are written in many languages upon the question of how much of this was due to Moses. Devastating, inexorable modern study and criticism have proved that the Pentateuch constitutes a body of narrative and doctrine which came into being over at least the compass of several centuries. We reject, however, with scorn all those learned and labored myths that Moses was but a legendary figure upon whom the priesthood and the people hung their essential social, moral and religious ordinances. We believe that the most scientific view, the most up-to-date and rationalistic conception, will find its fullest satisfaction in taking the Bible story literally, and in identifying one of the greatest human beings with the most decisive leap forward ever discernible in the human story. We remain unmoved by the tomes of Professor Gradgrind and Dr. Dryasdust. We may be sure all these things happened just as they are set out according to Holy Writ. We may believe that they happened to people not so very different from ourselves, and that the impressions those people received were faithfully recorded and have been transmitted across the centuries with far more accuracy than many of the telegraphed accounts we read of the goings-on of today. In the words of a forgotten work of Mr. Gladstone, we rest with assurance upon 'the impregnable rock of Holy Scripture'."

This article is due to appear on July 4th. Consider the mighty work God has used Mr. Churchill to accomplish for the good of his nation, and others. Is not the secret revealed in the above quotations revealing his "Belief in The God of The Bible?" By way of contrast, consider the unbelief in "The God of The Bible" as revealed by our Supreme Court's decision to take "The Bread of Life, The Bread of Eternal Life," out of the mouths of our school children. Consider how this decision has been approved, or accepted, or supported by the great men of our nation, or men occupying great positions. Have we not officially rejected "The God of our fathers"? Would it not be very appropriate for all "God-fearing people" to spend time in thought, meditation and prayer of repentance in our celebration of the day? In Ezekiel 21:25-27, God says concerning a profane wicked prince: "Remove the diadem, and take off the crown . . . I will overturn, overturn, overturn, it: and it shall be no more, until He come whose right it is; I will give it Him." God can, and God does, often change things mighty quick! "LORD GOD OF HOSTS, BE WITH US YET, LEST WE FORGET, LEST WE FORGET!"
