Wisconsin 'Ghoul' To Be Made To Try

Like, Dulles Preparing Message

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower met with the National Security Council today, presumably to discuss the report he will give the nation tonight on the NATO meeting in Paris.

The President and Secretary of State Dulles will join in the half hour radio-television report, starting at 8:30 p.m. EST.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he expected both men would speak informally from notes, rather than from prepared texts.

Dulles conferred privately with the President before the Security Council meeting.

Hagerty said he expects the President will leave for his Gettysburg, Pa., farm, not long after Christmas—perhaps this weekend or earlier.

Whenever the President does go, it will be a sort of work-vacation, Hagerty said.

Hagerty also said he does not expect any further conferences between Eisenhower and congressional leaders before the new year. He said no decision has been made as to whether there will be such meetings before Congress reconvenes Jan. 7.

Eisenhower's radio-TV report tonight will present his first comment on the NATO conference since his return from Paris.

The conference, seeking unity among the North Atlantic Treaty countries in the face of Russia's missile developments, adopted a two-way approach. The NATO chiefs of state approved the U. S. idea of basing intermediate range missiles in Europe and at the same time called for further disarmament negotiations with the Russians.

Russia already has indicated it is not interested in a NATO-proposed meeting of foreign ministers to discuss disarmament. Soviet leaders called instead for a special United Nations session, or some other full-scale international conference.

The Eisenhower-Dulles broadcast will be at 8:30 p.m. EST. CBS-TV and all other major radio networks, ABC-TV will carry the program on film at 8:30 p.m. and NBC will show it at 11:30 p.m.

The President returned last Friday from Europe, and he has not made any public statements about the NATO meeting since his return.

Dulles told newsmen upon his arrival last Saturday that the 12-nation Atlantic Pact meeting "look all the essential decisions for which we had hoped."

New York Gov. Averell Harriman, who as Harriarm put it, not fully preparing the President for the Paris conference. The governor said that was unfortunate and unfair.

But, Harriman said in a TV interview, Eisenhower is "a great salesman of our American ideals," and he praised the President for "pulling the NATO conference together."

Luke Finds Inn Still Crowded To Overflowing

EDITOR'S NOTE: The classic Biblical example of lack of charity is the innkeeper's refusal to make room for the traveling Mary and Joseph on what now is called Christmas Eve. Here is an account of how Luke might have obtained the background for this teaching story.

By GEORGE CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

The old, clay-brick inn stood just inside the east gate of Bethlehem. Luke, the physician and writer, threaded his way through the street traffic, tired and dust-grimed.

So this was the inn that had no room for Mary as her time grew near. A wind, carrying the first chill of winter, rippled Luke's cloak as he made his way toward it.

He had trudged many leagues in the last few months, assembling his chronicle of Christ. He had been over the nearly 100 miles that Mary and Joseph traveled to reach his ancestral city of David. He knew their travail.

BUT LUKE, a painstaking researcher, had also gathered items in distant places, in the consulates of Antioch and Damascus, prying into official Roman annals and enactments to pinpoint the time of the nativity of his Lord.

"In those days," he would write later, "a decree went out from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be enrolled."

FOR MARY and Joseph; this had meant a hard, hazardous trip from Nazareth, with her in most fragile condition. All of it had happened 60 years before Luke pieced together the sequence, but he had verified each step of the way.

As suggested by Matthew and by Mary's own words, however tacitly phrased, Luke knew there had been some shock among people in Nazareth when she conceived.

Although she was not required by law to accompany Joseph for the enrollment, she did so rather than remain alone among long-wagging neighbors, even with the delivery of her child.

Further Checks Ordered

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis. (AP)—Circuit Judge Herbert A. Bunde said today that authorities at Central State Hospital for the Criminal Insane have reported to him that Edward Gein, Plaintiff, hatched a plan to release who admitted killing and butchering two women and looting the graves of a dozen more, is "not competent to stand trial."

Judge Bunde, who ordered Gein's commitment for a sanity hearing when the 51-year-old handyman was arraigned on Nov. 21, said that Gein's stay at the institution would be extended beyond the first 30-day period he ordered.

The judge also said he would order a formal sanity hearing to be designated later.

The frail-appearing Gein was committed upon his arraignment on a charge of first degree murder in the Nov. 15 mutilation slaying of Mrs. Bernice Worden, 59-year-old Plainfield hardware store operator.

Mrs. Worden's body was found in the woods of the 10-acre old farmhouse owned by her husband on the night of the slaying.

During extensive questioning, Gein also admitted the slaying and similar mutilation of Mrs. Hosan, 54-year-old tavern operator in nearby county, in December of 1954.

However, he contended that the other female parts found in his home all had been taken from grave sites. He gave authorities a list of graves he said he visited, and when the first two reopened by officials proved to be empty they accepted his story. However, Atty. Gen. Stewart Hoke, during a recent conference of the investigation, said that other graves might be opened later to confirm the story.

NATO Sea Missiles Seen

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Louis Norstad, commander in Europe, said today NATO military circles view intermediate-range ballistic missile based on both land and sea.

He told a news conference of the seabase launching sites could take the form of submarines, surface vessels or even floating plants that could be constructed off the coasts of NATO powers.

Norstad said he expected to make in a matter of weeks the necessary military recommendations as a first step to the establishment of missile bases in Europe.

He said he expects that from 6 to 10 squadrons of 15 intermediate-range missiles each will be established in Europe. These figures did not include the four missile sites contemplated in Britain, he added.

As a result of last week's NATO summit conference, he predicted, the Western Allies will have the missiles in Europe in good time to meet the growing Soviet threat from scientific advances.

'BEST CHRISTMAS PRESENT' They Await Return Of Baby

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Each minute seemed an hour today to a young Army private and his wife waiting to receive the best Christmas present in all the world—their own baby boy.

Pvt. Douglas A. Heywood, 26, and his wife, Vickie, haven't seen 8-month-old Doug Jr. in nearly eight weeks and didn't expect him at this time.

But the Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle, the San Diego (Calif.) Union, American Air Lines and Delta Air Lines joined to make little Doug's first Christmas a happy one.

Doug Jr. was left in a children's boarding home in San Diego when Heywood was drafted and sent to Ft. Gordon near Augusta.

The baby was born prematurely and the parents wanted to be sure a place was prepared for him before they brought him east. Once here, the couple found he couldn't meet the child's board bill. Doug became a ward of the Juvenile Court in San Diego and was placed in Hillcrest Boarding Home there.

Reporter Pat Kelly of the Chronicle learned of the situation and the paper went into action. Juvenile Court authorities in both San Diego and Augusta were consulted and their approval obtained. Air line officials agreed to bring Doug Jr. east as a guest.

Arrangements were made for Mary Stanley of American Airlines to take the little boy part of the way and then transfer him to the care of Harriet Vidler, a Delta stewardess from Augusta.

Last night the young mother held a long distance telephone conversation with Miss Stanley. "Take good care of him," Mrs. Heywood pleaded. "He's so little."

"He's not so little any more," Miss Stanley exclaimed. "Just wait until you see him."

That's just what the Heywoods are doing.

Unpaid Janitor Gets Tax Bills
