Pump Co. In Water Picture

By ANN SAWYER
Charlotte News Staff Writer
A representative of the McCall Bros. Pump & Well Co. today met with county officials to discuss the "Thomasboro water situation."
At the conclusion of the meeting with Gorman McCall, city-county health officer, Dr. M. B. Bethel and A. A. McCall Water Co. attorney Charles J. Henderson, Commission Chairman Sid V. McCaden said nothing had been settled.
It was not known early today whether McCall Bros., which has no connection with the McCall Co., would take over the system for the county or act as technical adviser to the county. Commissioners were to meet in special session at 4 p.m. today to discuss the continued flow of water to 25 Thomasboro families.

Fire Starts After Plane Hits House

Mr. Davis introduced a resolution commanding the newspaper for what it called the "expose" of the "free liquor to legislators" situation in Raleigh.

MINNEAPOLIS (P) — Two Navy jet planes flying in a Memorial Day formation collided over northeast Minneapolis at 11 a.m. today. One plane plunged into a residence setting it and three others on fire.
The other plane was reported missing. There was no immediate report on the number of fatalities but the pilot of one plane was reported killed when he attempted to bail out.
The two other planes in the formation returned to their Minneapolis base safely. The four planes had gone east to fly in formation over Sunset Memorial Cemetery, a short distance from where the collision occurred.
Before striking the house, the plane plowed into a parked car on Northeast Pierce Street and shrapnel hit the lawn. Fuel was sprayed over the house.
The pilot apparently bailed out too late for his parachute to carry him safely to the ground. The parachute became entangled in a tree across the street from the burning house.
One report said two persons were seen running from the rear of one of the burning houses.

RALEIGH (P)—Legislators to give the NAACP and other groups involved in the racial segregation issue to furnish the state more information on their organization and finances, two bill unexpected opposition at a meeting of the House Constitution Committee today.
The Committee, which had before it a substitute measure prepared by a subcommittee, voted to defer action on the bill until a later meeting. It indicated it wanted to hear discussions of its constitutionality from the attorney general's office and from I. Beverly Lake, Raleigh lawyer and former assistant attorney general.

Hanks 100-Mile Leader At Indy

INDIANAPOLIS (P)—Sam Hanks, burst into the lead at the end of 100 miles of the 500-mile Indianapolis Memorial Day race today.
Hanks was a surprise front runner, driving a revolutionary new car featuring an engine by one-fiftieth of an inch.

Hanks boosted the race record to 140.823 miles an hour for the first 100 miles as Russo led, but for a try change. The old 100-mile record was Jack McGrath's 127.025 in 1954.

Hanks made a 45-second pit stop for tires and fuel and got back on the track without losing the lead.

Four cars were eliminated early in the race. Eddie Russo, Kansas City, and Anne Special, fast line broken when hit by Elmer George, first preliminary lap.

Tim Rutman, Lynnwood, Calif., Zink Special, broken rod, 30 miles.

Rodger Ward, in the experimental, Walcott Special, went out with mechanical failure.

A crowd of some 150,000 stood around the track as the 29 veterans and five rookies began their dangerous chase after fame and $500,000.

Almost perfect racing weather was in prospect for the four-hour grand—a hot, dry day with a seven-mile wind and light overcast.

CAR HITS WALL

Jimmy Daywalt escaped injury of 125 miles an hour, first section of the actual race. His car spun and hit the wall on the northeast turn. He also hit the wall in last year's race, suffering a severe arm injury.

The first ten drivers in order at the end of the first 100 miles were Hanks, Paul Russo, Jimmy Ryan, Freddie Agabashian, Paul Linden, Eddie Sachs, Pat O'Connor, Tony Bettenhausen, Jimmy Boyd, and Johnny Thomson.
