

Purchases Given Study By Senate

WASHINGTON — The purchase by union officers of brassieres, milk stools and golfer's lamp covers under scrutiny today of Senate racketeers.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) of the special Senate committee named those items, along with radio and television sets, yesterday as appearing on union-paid expense accounts of United Textile Workers officials.

Neither McClellan nor Klenert could describe a golfer's lamp or say what it is used for. And Klenert said he did not recall buying any milk stools either, although he said they may have been prettied-up articles of furniture.

Klenert said the brassieres may have gone to woman delegates attending union meetings, but he didn't remember who could have received radio and TV sets at the union's expense.

Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, said the committee would explore at least $100,000 worth of items charged to the union in what he termed "flagrant" misuse of UTW funds.

Kennedy said the total includes $57,000 of union money used in the purchase of plush, new homes for Valente and Klenert in 1952. Most of the other items, he added, represent things for which the union paid in the last three years. He said the union has destroyed its financial records covering periods before that.

Klenert told reporters he thought some of the items might have been bought and paid for from a recently discontinued "expense allowance" under which, he said, he and Valente were authorized by the union to spend up to $6,200 a year each for any purpose — to buy gifts for others or for themselves. He said he thought most of the items were given to persons who did favors for the union.

Klenert told reporters he thought some of the items might have been bought and paid for from a recently discontinued "expense allowance" under which, he said, he and Valente were authorized by the union to spend up to $6,200 a year each for any purpose — to buy gifts for others or for themselves. He said he thought most of the items were given to persons who did favors for the union.

Crusade Ends On Aug. 10

NEW YORK — A spokesman for Billy Graham said last night the crusade will end his New York crusade Aug. 10. The campaign began May 15 and has been extended twice.

Roger Hunt, chairman of Graham's local sponsoring committee, said an extension beyond Aug. 10 had been discussed but finally ruled out.

Graham affirmed the decision in his appearance before 15,000 persons at Madison Square Garden last night. He said he and his wife plan a vacation starting about Aug. 15. He gave no location.

In his hour-long sermon, Graham said, "Prayer is a proof of God" and "is God's method whereby we approach Him."

At Graham's call 396 persons made "decisions for Christ." That brought the over-all total for the crusade to 85,832. Total attendance rose to 1,218,000.

Last night's crowd of 15,000 was the second smallest of the campaign. The attendance low for the crusade was set May 15, the second day of the revival, when 13,500 showed up.

The Garden seats 18,500. A Graham spokesman described the attendance "as very good under the circumstances." The crusade was scheduled to end last Saturday. The decision to extend it was made the day before.

There was no time to arrange for mass attendance by church groups and other delegations last night, the spokesman said. But he added that the system of group reservations is being worked out again for the rest of the extended period.

The Garden seats 18,500. A Graham spokesman described the attendance "as very good under the circumstances." The crusade was scheduled to end last Saturday. The decision to extend it was made the day before.

There was no time to arrange for mass attendance by church groups and other delegations last night, the spokesman said. But he added that the system of group reservations is being worked out again for the rest of the extended period.

The Garden seats 18,500. A Graham spokesman described the attendance "as very good under the circumstances." The crusade was scheduled to end last Saturday. The decision to extend it was made the day before.

There was no time to arrange for mass attendance by church groups and other delegations last night, the spokesman said. But he added that the system of group reservations is being worked out again for the rest of the extended period.

The Garden seats 18,500. A Graham spokesman described the attendance "as very good under the circumstances." The crusade was scheduled to end last Saturday. The decision to extend it was made the day before.

There was no time to arrange for mass attendance by church groups and other delegations last night, the spokesman said. But he added that the system of group reservations is being worked out again for the rest of the extended period.

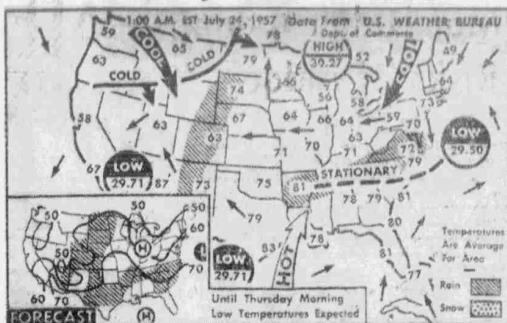

The Garden seats 18,500. A Graham spokesman described the attendance "as very good under the circumstances." The crusade was scheduled to end last Saturday. The decision to extend it was made the day before.

There was no time to arrange for mass attendance by church groups and other delegations last night, the spokesman said. But he added that the system of group reservations is being worked out again for the rest of the extended period.

The Garden seats 18,500. A Graham spokesman described the attendance "as very good under the circumstances." The crusade was scheduled to end last Saturday. The decision to extend it was made the day before.

There was no time to arrange for mass attendance by church groups and other delegations last night, the spokesman said. But he added that the system of group reservations is being worked out again for the rest of the extended period.

Today's Weather

NORTH CAROLINA: Considerable cloudiness and mild with a few scattered showers mainly in southeast portion this afternoon. High temperatures around 80, except middle 80s in southeast portion. Clearing and somewhat cooler tonight, with lows around 69 in mountains, in 60s elsewhere. Thursday generally fair with moderate temperatures.

SOUTH CAROLINA: Partly cloudy and hot with widely scattered thundershowers extreme south portion this afternoon. Cloudy and cooler with scattered showers north and central. Cloudy and cool tonight and Thursday. Scattered showers and thunder showers extreme south portion tonight and Thursday. High this afternoon middle 80s north to middle 90s south; low tonight 65 north to 74 extreme south.

U. S. DEPT. OF COMMERCE WEATHER BUREAU CHARLOTTE, N. C. (CHARLOTTE MUNICIPAL AIRPORT) JULY 29, 1957

1 p.m.	80	1 a.m.	78
2 p.m.	80	2 a.m.	77
3 p.m.	80	3 a.m.	77
4 p.m.	80	4 a.m.	77
5 p.m.	80	5 a.m.	77
6 p.m.	80	6 a.m.	77
7 p.m.	80	7 a.m.	77
8 p.m.	80	8 a.m.	77
9 p.m.	80	9 a.m.	77
10 p.m.	80	10 a.m.	77
11 p.m.	80	11 a.m.	77
12 p.m.	80	12 a.m.	77

RELATIVE HUMIDITY
Morning 88
Evening 72
Monsoon today 2-45 a.m.

Long Heat Wave Broken

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rain fell in some Southern and Western areas but pleasant summer weather prevailed in most other sections of the country today.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

THIS TAKES PRACTICE

... and so does saving money!

There is no substitute for regular practice. This is the way to cultivate talent in any field. Practice makes deposits every week or pay day. As the habit grows, so does your bank of cash.

Open your Bank of Commerce savings account today... your savings earn 2 1/2% interest... compounded quarterly.

MEMBER FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION
124 SOUTH CHURCH ST. CHARLOTTE, N. C.

3 Cities Open Schools To Negroes

Continued from Front Page
for a hearing before the board.

The pupil assignment act also gives parents of white children attending desegregated schools the right to ask for transfer to all-white units.

Attending last night's meeting were all members of the Charlotte board except Dr. Herbert Spangh, the chairman, who is in Europe on business for the Moravian Church. Vice Chairman J. J. Hobson presided.

The board opened its meeting, as has been its custom, with a prayer. Board member Richard Brown invoked Divine guidance for the board in its deliberations and for opponents of its policy. He prayed for "moderation and restraint" on the part of the opponents and concluded:

"Help us to put a protective arm around the shoulders of our children. Let no harm come to the innocent."

The board adopted this formal declaration of policy after voting on the reassignment of the five pupils:

"Under the 1955 North Carolina Pupil Assignment Law as amended by the 1956 special session of the General Assembly local school boards are 'authorized and directed' to provide for the assignment of children to public schools.

"At the end of the 1957 school term, all pupils in the Charlotte schools were reassigned for the next school year to the schools they were then attending or would normally attend. However, within the 10-day limit specified in the Pupil Assignment Act, 40 applications were filed in behalf of Negro children seeking reassignment from the schools heretofore attended exclusively by Negro children to schools in which only white children were enrolled.

"The board has given the most careful consideration to each of the 40 applications. It has sought the best legal advice and counsel to determine its responsibility under the Pupil Assignment Act and the governing opinions of the United States Supreme Court and Appeals.

"The board has unanimously concluded that five of these applications should be granted, and that 35 should be denied.

"In all cases, the board considered many factors, including residential proximity to the requested school. The five children whose applications were approved were reassigned to the schools they had specifically requested after the board found it had no discretion to assign them elsewhere.

"The board has taken this step only with the greatest concern and after earnest and prayerful consideration of the many complex factors involved. Its chief motivation has been a sincere desire to preserve the public schools of Charlotte and North Carolina."

Horace Wells is one of the best-qualified persons about in the region of the weekly Clinton Courier-News. He has had three special citations from journalistic organization around the country since the case broke—and innumerable vicious, ugly, warning letters and postcards, mostly anonymous.

"There is no question that the majority of people here are against integration," he said.

"They didn't want it, but they were willing to go along with it, last fall. Then the situation changed.

"Prejudice has built up. It's going to take a long time to overcome the prejudice."

What will happen next month when the fall term begins in the high school?

"Whether people will do anything about it, I don't know," said Wells. "Nobody is working for integration. Nobody will lift a finger to further it."

"My own feeling is that the Negroes probably won't come back to school."

Kasper said his conviction will not change his plans.

"I am going to Nashville when the schools open there and they try to integrate them," he said. "I'm going to fight this out."

FAIR TRIAL

His attorney J. Benjamin Simmons said: "I think we received a very fair trial, but I am naturally disappointed.

"This verdict establishes a pattern for government by injunction which destroys all our constitutional rights."

Quietly, and without an exuberance, U. S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr. said: "My staff and I endeavored to try this case like other government cases. I have no other comment."

YULE PARTY HELD

ATLANTIC, Mass. — The eighth annual Christmas in July party was held last night for physically handicapped boys and girls from the Boston area. The sponsoring Rotary club had a sleigh filled with toys and Santa Claus distributed gifts to 80 children from under a gaily decorated Christmas tree.

ations were filed in behalf of Negro children seeking reassignment from the schools heretofore attended exclusively by Negro children to schools in which only white children were enrolled.

"The board has given the most careful consideration to each of the 40 applications. It has sought the best legal advice and counsel to determine its responsibility under the Pupil Assignment Act and the governing opinions of the United States Supreme Court and Appeals.

"The board has unanimously concluded that five of these applications should be granted, and that 35 should be denied.

"In all cases, the board considered many factors, including residential proximity to the requested school. The five children whose applications were approved were reassigned to the schools they had specifically requested after the board found it had no discretion to assign them elsewhere.

"The board has taken this step only with the greatest concern and after earnest and prayerful consideration of the many complex factors involved. Its chief motivation has been a sincere desire to preserve the public schools of Charlotte and North Carolina."

Horace Wells is one of the best-qualified persons about in the region of the weekly Clinton Courier-News. He has had three special citations from journalistic organization around the country since the case broke—and innumerable vicious, ugly, warning letters and postcards, mostly anonymous.

"There is no question that the majority of people here are against integration," he said.

"They didn't want it, but they were willing to go along with it, last fall. Then the situation changed.

"Prejudice has built up. It's going to take a long time to overcome the prejudice."

What will happen next month when the fall term begins in the high school?

"Whether people will do anything about it, I don't know," said Wells. "Nobody is working for integration. Nobody will lift a finger to further it."

"My own feeling is that the Negroes probably won't come back to school."

Kasper said his conviction will not change his plans.

"I am going to Nashville when the schools open there and they try to integrate them," he said. "I'm going to fight this out."

FAIR TRIAL

His attorney J. Benjamin Simmons said: "I think we received a very fair trial, but I am naturally disappointed.

"This verdict establishes a pattern for government by injunction which destroys all our constitutional rights."

Quietly, and without an exuberance, U. S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr. said: "My staff and I endeavored to try this case like other government cases. I have no other comment."

YULE PARTY HELD

ATLANTIC, Mass. — The eighth annual Christmas in July party was held last night for physically handicapped boys and girls from the Boston area. The sponsoring Rotary club had a sleigh filled with toys and Santa Claus distributed gifts to 80 children from under a gaily decorated Christmas tree.

ations were filed in behalf of Negro children seeking reassignment from the schools heretofore attended exclusively by Negro children to schools in which only white children were enrolled.

Recipe For Divorce

LOS ANGELES — Here's a recipe for divorce:
Take clothing and bedding and scatter them on the front room floor.

Pour the contents of fruit jars, vegetable cans, milk cartons and other bottles over the garments. No mixing required.

Mrs. Shirley A. Morris, 34-year-old waitress, complained in a divorce suit that her husband Kenneth, 37, plumbing company foreman, concocted such a recipe.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

The season's longest heat wave was broken in most of the Eastern half of the nation. However, some Southern areas didn't get the full effects of the cool air which brought relief to the sweltering millions.

The rain belt which stretched from the middle Mississippi Valley eastward to southern New England yesterday moved southward and extended from the lower Mississippi Valley through Tennessee and the middle Atlantic Coast states.

VACATION TIPS

Don't get too much Sun

Keep in touch with home by Telephone

Sun is fun at the beach—but not with a blistered back. So take it easy. And add pleasure to your vacation by keeping in touch with home by telephone. Long Distance is quick, personal, easy to use. Low in cost, too. It's Twice As Fast to Call By Number

Southern Bell

LONG DISTANCE

KITCHEN PLANNING & REMODELING... A SPECIALTY

The "TRADE-IN KING" Says... You Can BEAT THE HEAT

Easily, Pleasingly, and Economically WITH THE

NEW Thinline ROOM AIR CONDITIONER

gives greatest comfort yet but takes 1/3 less space

New THINLINE design fits almost within the limits of your inside and outside walls... eliminates bulk projection. A completely NEW and revolutionary design with improved air conditioning performance in 1/3 less space than old style units.

One-Horse Power Models May Be Purchased For ONLY $255 PER WEEK after small down payment

COOLS • DEHUMIDIFIES • FILTERS • VENTILATES • EXHAUSTS

TERMS to Suit Your Budget

1522 E. 4th STREET STORE OPEN MONDAY and FRIDAY 'TIL 9 P. M.

Home Appliances Co.

PHONE FR 3-3756 — CHARLOTTE PHONE UN 4-3446 — GASTONIA

where there's life... there's Budweiser

WORLD CHAMPION!

More people have poured and praised more Budweiser than any other beer on Earth. Have a can of Bud... it's the King of Beers.