The Israelis Find In Rocky Land A Foe Tougher Than Armed Arabs

By CECIL PRINCE
Editor, The News

FROM the white-hot wastes of the Negev to the rocky thrusts of the Upper Galilee Mountains, Israel is fighting a daily battle for survival.

Her principal enemy is not the Arab. It is the land.

For the stranger in this scriptural paradise, the first glimpse of Israel can only be described as shocking.

Here is no land of milk and honey. Here is a rough and rugged wilderness.

At first gash it appears that her soil is too stony and arid and narrow to sustain more than a gaggle of pygmies.

Then you travel. You follow the pipelines to the fertile valleys. You fasten your eyes on the Sharon Plain with its ordered greenery and lush richness.

Then you begin to appreciate for the first time what has been called Israel's instinct for survival.

Then you begin to appreciate for the first time what has been called Israel's instinct for survival.

Top Businessmen No Longer Want To Work For ke

By STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON
TOP officials of the Eisenhower administration, including the President himself, are spending a good deal of their time these days almost literally on their knees, pleading with leading businessmen to take jobs with the government.

When John Hollister decided to resign as director of the ICA, the search for a successor began with James Smith, the extremely able former assistant secretary of the Navy.

It is now hoped that Smith, the first choice, can after all be persuaded to take the job.

President & Press: No News Of New Officials

Industrialists hand-running have turned back the job—Clarence Randall of Inland Steel, Ernest Breech of Ford Motors, Ralph Cordner of General Electric.

Bankers are apparently just as reluctant as industrialists to take government post. Enough bankers were offered the government's number two fiscal job, the undersecretaryship of the Treasury, to make a small bankers' convention. But a lawyer, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Fred Schreiber, had to be promoted by default.

Two of the most interesting jobs in the government are now going begging, and neither involves any painful contact with Congress. One is the soon-to-be vacated post of chief of the State Department's policy planning staff, now headed by Robert Bowie. Secretary of State Dulles wants someone from outside the government to take on the policy planning staff.

Robert Cutler, special assistant to the President and secretary of the National Security Council, has in some ways the most interesting job in the government. He deals in all the highest issues of national policy, and he briefs the President daily on such issues. Cutler wants to go back to his staff, now headed by Robert Bowie. Secretary of State Dulles wants someone from outside the government to take on the policy planning staff. But although the job involves the most fascinating kind of high-level policy-making, there are no takers so far, and the post may go instead to a Foreign Service professional.

Just about every natural-born body's first Zion is the mother's womb where truly magically, gently encircled, or Zioned, by water, the small "vessel" floats, carefully and mystically—magically anchored—until eventually the small vessel is ready to come out into even greater Zion. For even this planet we all must usually take for granted is also encircled, or Zioned, by a magic misty-watery atmosphere by which we all rather magically breathe.

When truthfully done and understood, the word "Zion" is just about the most beautiful of all words—to enclose, shelter, protect, and for the stronger ones to carry, or help to carry, the smaller, or weaker, ones, in their arms and hearts, if and when necessary, or truly needful. Though perhaps sometimes "Zionism" things and/or people might could possibly be overdone, too!

You say your decision is a "prayerful and painful" one. When, by your decision, you supposedly gave indirect approval to the deplorable philosophy of a foreign socialist (Gunn Myrdal of Sweden) who despises the U. S. Constitution, and who the Supreme Court cited as a racist authority for its notorious decision of May, 1954, was it in serious "prayer and pain" that you squared with the fact that your decision manifested a callous disregard for your own liberties and well being, as well as the liberty and well being of your countrymen?

As a citizen and taxpayer of this city, state, and country, let me emphasize that, while there is breath in this body, neither you, the Supreme Court, Virginia, leader of the Republicanism will force me directly or indirectly to send my child to an integrated school!

Boston bank and repair his private fortunes. Yet, so far, he is staying on, because no qualified man to replace him has been found.

SO IT GOES

And so it goes. President Truman used to complain almost daily about the difficulty of getting good men to serve the government. In fact, President Eisenhower, heading a strongly pro-business administration, is having a lot more trouble than Truman did.

Part of the trouble is money, of course. There are the comparatively low government salaries, and the conflict-of-interest problems, but the fact is that many businessmen ruthlessly penalize any executive who leaves to work for his government. One of the President's closest advisers, for example, who has no private means, has already lost his pension rights in the firm in which he was formerly an executive. Businessmen who work for the government also tend to lose their place on the corporate ladder, and when they return they find that they have been shoved down several rungs.

ANOTHER LOOK?

Perhaps Congress ought to have another look at the conflict-of-interest statutes, and at salary rates and income tax exemptions in the executive branch. But business also ought to have another look at its practices in respect to those who take government jobs. For it is certainly in the interest of business that the President's experiments in staffing the top levels of government with businessmen should not fail. And it is in the interest of the government to draw only on second raters, the independently rich, and the elderly and retired.

Just about every natural-born body's first Zion is the mother's womb where truly magically, gently encircled, or Zioned, by water, the small "vessel" floats, carefully and mystically—magically anchored—until eventually the small vessel is ready to come out into even greater Zion.
