

WORLD NEWS

Signs Confession

DELAND, Fla. (AP)—Donald J. Wedler today signed a statement that he killed Marilyn Sheppard, a Cleveland attorney for Dr. Samuel Sheppard reported.

A-Ship Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Government plans to let the contract for building the first atomic-powered merchant ship early this fall and have it at sea in 1960.

Ike To Ball Game

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is going to the baseball game tonight. The White House said a number of staff members would accompany the President to the game between the Washington Senators and the Chicago White Sox.

George Improved

VIENNA, Ga. (AP)—Former Senator Walter F. George, critically ill from a coronary occlusion, appeared somewhat improved today.

Salvage Attempt

LONDON (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles conferred with officials of three other Western nations today in an attempt to breathe new life into U.N. disarmament negotiations.

Statehood Bills OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate insular affairs committee unanimously approved today bills to grant statehood to Alaska and Hawaii.

Halsey Well

NEW YORK (AP)—Retired Fleet Adm. William F. (Bull) Halsey, 74, was reported "feeling very well" today in Doctors Hospital, where he is undergoing a physical checkup.

Reserve Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force disclosed today that it is considering turning over some of its guided missile operations to reserve units.

Faces Sentencing

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—South Texas political leader George B. Parr faces sentencing today on Federal convictions of using the mails to defraud the Benavides independent school district.

Saving The Franc

PARIS (AP)—France's new austerity program, designed to save the franc from collapse and the government from bankruptcy, went into effect today with publication of new tax schedules in the official journal.

Isotopes Pay Way

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—An Atomic Energy Commissioner predicted today that savings from peaceful uses of radioisotopes will soon offset the cost of the nation's nuclear weapons program. Dr. Willard F. Libby said, "Probably in 1959 isotopes... will be paying the whole way for the atom."

NO SUPPORT

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Frank Fenton, 34, went a divorce from his wife Mary Jane, 42, on testimony she had developed an antipathy toward writers. Fenton is a screen writer.

'Give A Cheer For God' S. C. TOT ESCUED FROM WELL

NEW PUZZLE ON 12A No News Words Winner, So It Is Worth $250

(Answer to last week's puzzle on page 5A)
There'll be $250 in the pot for the lucky winner of NewsWords this week.
There was NO WINNER this week, so The News has added $50 to the jackpot.
If you entered and missed, don't be disappointed. You had plenty of company and the prize is going up.
There were plenty of close entries—but none came close enough.
This week there's a brand new puzzle. You can forget about mastering last week's teaser. Even though there was no winner, we're tossing you a new puzzle and this one will be just as much fun to try.
We're keeping our fingers crossed. We want a winner this week. But if we fail to find one again, next week's prize will be worth as much as $500.
Try NewsWords twice or more this week.
There's a puzzle on page 12A of this issue of The News and it will be repeated tomorrow.

'MUMMY'S DEAD' This Time The News Was True

WHITLEY BAY, England (AP)—For the second time in 10 days, 11-year-old Carole Draper has been told "Your mummy is dead." This time it was true.
Mrs. Nicolette Draper, in her early forties, collapsed in a store on July 19. She was taken to a hospital with an undisclosed ailment.
The next day a policeman called at the Drapers' home. "I'm sorry, Mrs. Draper, your mummy is dead," he said.
CAROLE went upstairs and prayed.
"Please, God, make my mummy live."
Relatives prepared for the funeral. Mrs. Draper's brother called at the hospital—and found his sister alive.
"A horrible mistake," a hospital official said of the policeman's message. "We are making an inquiry."
At home, Carole said prayers of thanksgiving.
Yesterday her father, W. Draper, an engineer on the liner Queen Mary, left the hospital and went home to his golden-haired daughter.
He broke the news, and this time there was no mistake. Carole collapsed.
"It was too much," her father said. "She broke down... I don't think she will ever get over this double shock."

'Effective' Rights Bill GOP's Aim

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican Leader Knowland said today his forces are determined to keep the Senate in session all winter if necessary to pass an effective civil rights bill.
After a White House conference with President Eisenhower, the California senator said he is sure that Eisenhower will be made to sign any jury trial provision to the bill.
Repeating previous statements that he heads will not compromise on the jury trial issue, Knowland said:
"If it is necessary to stay here all winter we are prepared to stay here all winter."
He added, however, in obvious reference to threats of a possible filibuster by Southern Democrats, that he hopes no attempt at "pure obstructionism" will be made to prevent the legislation from coming to a vote.
Knowland said, too, he is confident his side has enough votes to defeat any amendments which would require jury trials for persons accused of criminal contempt for allegedly violating court orders designed to protect voting rights.
Southerners have been disputing that claim, and there were indications that the fate of the amendment may lie with half a dozen undecided senators.
Knowland talked with reporters after he and other GOP congressional leaders held their weekly meeting with Eisenhower.

Floyd Puts Hurricane In Hospital

See Page 5-B

Rowan Boy Finds Bodies Of Parents

Special To The News
ROCKWELL — A panting, terrified seven-year-old boy ran a quarter of a mile to his uncle's home near here today to tell him "Mother and Daddy are bleeding from the mouth."
Minutes later the two were found dead on a bedroom floor in what Rowan County Sheriff A. J. Shuping called a murder-suicide.
The dead were identified as Mary Rose Miller Goodman, 43, and her husband, 42-year-old Hubert R. Goodman.
SHOT MATE, SELF
Sheriff Shuping said it appeared Mrs. Goodman once suddenly heard voices "telling" her to kill her husband—had shot Mr. Goodman and then took her own life.
Seven-year-old Ray Goodman was awakened shortly after 6 a. m. by what sounded like a "board breaking." He went to his parent's bedroom to find them lying close together on the floor, a .32 caliber pistol just two inches from his mother's head.
Mrs. Goodman was shot in the right temple and Mr. Goodman in the forehead, Sheriff Shuping said.
The Goodman home is located a mile from here on the Lower Stone Church Rd. Mr. Goodman was a Cannon textile worker here. The home was described as a "very nice, brick structure."
CHILD AWAKENED
Ray said both parents had been awake around 6 o'clock and had visited his bedroom. He had dropped back off to sleep. At about 6:15 he was awakened by what sounded like a board breaking. When he entered the parents' bedroom, both were lying on the floor.
The terrified youngster ran from the house to the home of an uncle. Both parents apparently were killed instantly.
Dr. J. A. Oliver of Rockwell, a family physician, said Sheriff Shuping that Mrs. Goodman confided to him last year that something kept telling her she should kill her husband. The doctor told Shuping that after this revelation, Mrs. Goodman spent a month in a mental institution last year at Orangeburg, S. C.
Since her return, Dr. Oliver said, she had seemed much improved. Sheriff Shuping said Goodman was described by neighbors as a devoted husband, well thought of in the area.

17 For 5 Is Hitting That Egg

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP)—Chicken farmer John Delaporte isn't interested in what came first, the chicken or the egg. He wants to know what to expect next.
Delaporte has a hen who laid 17 eggs in a five-day period, and he's taken the energetic Leghorn to Rutgers University's agriculture experiment station for observation.
Delaporte first noticed this particular hen on Sunday, July 21, when temperatures pushed toward 100 degrees.
All of the chickens on the farm had begun to show the effects of the heat, but this hen looked ready to pass out, and Delaporte dumped her in a bucket of water.
She revived and the next day, Monday, laid an egg.
She had no egg Tuesday, but Wednesday she laid three, Thursday four and Friday three.
Delaporte, figuring he was the victim of a practical joker, locked the hen in a coop and kept a close watch during the weekend.
She laid four eggs Saturday and three Sunday.
With that, Delaporte decided to give science the bird. A member of the experiment station staff fetched her yesterday.
At any rate, the excitement of the hen's heat affected the hen where her heat and confinement did not. Her total production yesterday added up to a big goose egg.

Yvonne Beasley Lies In Anderson Hospital As Mother Watches From Bedside

Mrs. Beasley Embraces Anderson Fire Chief Bailey Maddox, Who Directed Rescue Work

Sudden' Enforcement Charged Accused Druggists Attack State Board Of Pharmacy

By JOHN KILGO
Charlotte News Staff Writer
A local drug store manager today attacked the N. C. Board of Pharmacy for what he called "sudden" enforcement of a state law that has been on the books for a long while.
The critic is Dan Marley, manager of Blair Drug Store, 2719 Tuckaseegee Rd., one of three Charlotte druggists indicted for filling prescriptions without a license.
Similar warrants were signed against John K. Civil Jr. of Doctor's Pharmacy, 2315 Central Ave. and W. N. Wilkins of Dilworth Pharmacy, 1601 South Blvd.
BIG MAN VS. LITTLE?
"This whole thing is a case of the big man trying to run the little man out of business," Mr. Marley said. "The law has been on the books for 10 to 15 years, and they just now start enforcing it."
The three men are accused of violating section 90-72 of the General Statutes of North Carolina, which makes it unlawful to fill a doctor's prescription without a license, except under the immediate supervision of a licensed pharmacist. Conviction carries a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100.
"The Board of Pharmacy has been falling down on its job," Mr. Marley said, "because the law has been on the books for a long time and we're the first stores in the state to be indicted."
"We can compete with the big boys in the drug store business," Mr. Marley said. "So they try to ruin us by throwing this law at us."
H. C. McAllister, secretary of the N. C. Board of Pharmacy, says the law has been enforced for quite some time.
"The enforcement of this law is

Drillers Do 4-Hour Rush Job

By FRANKIE SHARP
ANDERSON, S. C. (AP)—"We oughta everyone give a big cheer for God right now!" shouted someone in the crowd.
And the crowd roared in agreement as a weary man climbed out of a 35-foot abandoned well shaft holding a grimy baby in his arms.
"She's okay," yelled rescuer Red Roberts.
But for four terrible hours last night, no one could be sure 17-month-old Yvonne Beasley would come out alive. Her 3-year-old brother Richard David wept with his parents, begging for his sister to come out of the hole.
KEPT CRYING
"That's all he kept saying the whole time," Mrs. J. B. Beasley said today. "He just kept crying and saying, 'I want my sister out of the hole.'"
Richard and his chubby, brown-haired, blue-eyed sister were playing in the yard yesterday evening while their mother fixed supper.
"Richard came running in the house crying. Sister fell in the hole and got hurt," the 23-year-old mother said.
"I ran out, but I never thought of the old well pipe. It's away from the house and covered with a bucket held down by a 12-pound stone. I ran right past it."
"I went to the front yard and then back again and then I heard her crying and calling 'Mommy, mommy, mommy.'"
"RAN AND SCREAMED"
"I ran out in the road and tried to stop a car. We don't have any phone and there aren't any neighbors close. I ran and screamed but nobody would stop. I guess they thought it was some family fight."
"Finally, after about 20 minutes the car stopped and a woman got out and came with me. Her husband went to phone the firemen."
"We ran to the well, but I couldn't even see Yvonne. But I could hear her crying. She cried the whole time."
The Beasleys live about seven miles from town on a little road off the highway. The young mother was alone because her husband was going to a GI class at the Anderson High School. He was summoned home.
The child was wedged almost at the bottom of the narrow drill pipe of the old well. Doctors supervised sipping oxygen to her while drilling experts bored a parallel well 40 feet deep and removed a section of pipe and an old bucket stuck in the pipe joint to reach her.
The rescue here was similar to that of 7-year-old Benny Hooper, of Manville, N. Y., who was trapped near the bottom of a 24-foot well shaft in the back yard of his Long Island home for 23 1/2 hours last May 16-17. Oxygen was pumped down to him during his long ordeal as rescue workers dug a parallel shaft and then cut through to him. Benny suffered only minor injuries.
Mrs. Beasley said she thought some older children may have removed the heavy stone.
JUST SMILED
"The man who rescued her said she just grabbed his neck and smiled and smiled," Mrs. Beasley said, her voice still trembling with strain.
"When I saw her, I could hardly see her."
See RESCUER on page 3-A

Heat-Struck Man Has Temperature Of 110

DALLAS (AP)—Ben Belderman, 55, was found suffering from heat stroke here yesterday as temperatures soared to 107 degrees, a record for the date.
Belderman was found prostrate at the clothing store he operates. Doctors at Parkland Hospital said his temperature reached 110 before he was placed in an ice tub. His condition was described as critical.
"The Board of Pharmacy has been falling down on its job," Mr. Marley said, "because the law has been on the books for a long time and we're the first stores in the state to be indicted."
"We can compete with the big boys in the drug store business," Mr. Marley said. "So they try to ruin us by throwing this law at us."
H. C. McAllister, secretary of the N. C. Board of Pharmacy, says the law has been enforced for quite some time.
"The enforcement of this law is

WANT REPRINT OF OPERATION 10:09? ASK US

"Operation 10:09"—The News' report of a minute in the life of Charlotte—is now available in reprint form.
So many folks asked for extra copies of last Thursday's special project we decided they should have them.
The quantity is limited, but you can have yours if you act now. You may pick it up at The News office, 5 Church and 4th Sts., or you may write to us at Box 360, Charlotte.
Twenty-five News staffers cooperated last Thursday in reporting "the fragment of a history represented by the minute from 10:09 a.m. to 10:10 a.m."

Evening Prayer

All good things are Thine, O Lord, even as we ourselves are Thine. Keep us ever in remembrance of Thy loving kindness and Thy tender mercies. We pray in the name of Christ, our Redeemer. Amen.

Our Weather

Partly cloudy and warm today, tonight and Wednesday with scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers Wednesday.
Low this morning — 68
Low tomorrow morning — 70
High today — 92
High yesterday — 93
High tomorrow — 92
Sunrise today 5:30 a.m.; sunset today 7:23 p.m.
More Weather Data on Page 2-A