erbs say their first day was "what we expected."
Several hundred students were on the front steps of the school when young Roberts and his father, Edward, walked up at 8:54. The students yelled and shouted but were relatively restrained in their comments. The pair entered the school building with the students pushing and shouting behind them.

Principal Ed Sanders greeted them and they turned left and walked down the corridor to the steps to the third floor. One student handed Gustavus a "Beat Columbia" (Central's first football opponent) tag and he accepted it. In the confusion he handed it back when he learned it cost five cents.

Reporters and photographers accompanied the Robertses to Room 311 where they were greeted by Ivy Edelman, Central basketball coach and history teacher. This is Gustavus' homeroom.

Edelman let photographers and reporters gather around the youth for a few minutes and the newsmen left at 9:05.

Roberts returned to the school at 10:10 to pick up his son.

"How did it go?" Roberts asked.

"Okay," the boy said quietly.

GET IN CAR
They left Central crossed Elizabeth Ave. and got into the family car. Five-year-old Lavelle, the youngest of four Roberts children, sat in the back seat.

A group of ten to 15 youths and three adults heckled them as they left.

Scheduled to enter A. C. at 9 a. m. was Dolores Huntley. However, she later told a News reporter.

Quickly-Built Jet Has Test

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. — Eight months ago Lockheed Aircraft Co. directors nodded approvingly at some preliminary drawings of a small jet transport.

Today the plane, named JetStar, tests its shiny wings in flight.

No one is claiming any records for turning out an airplane in eight months from drawing board to flight line, but it is a performance of note in the fiercely competitive aircraft industry.

Normally it takes anywhere from two to three years to transform a sketch of a new aircraft design into a modern airplane.

Clarence L. (Kelly) Johnson, Lockheed's vice president for engineering and research, heads the company's 350-man Special Projects Department—and the more special the project the better this 47-year-old engineering whiz likes it.

Late in World War II Special Projects turned out the prototype of the F80 Shooting Star in just 142 days. But the much larger JetStar, a swept-wing, 500-m.p.h. 10-passenger plane, may well be the group's most remarkable achievement.

The Air Force had indicated an interest in a small, swift jet transport that could be used for top-priority military transportation. Lockheed, first company in a position to offer one, also plans to offer the JetStar to private firms as a transport for company executives. The price? From $500,000 to $700,000, depending on the number of orders.

Child Is Killed

By Nationalist Rebel

ALGIERS (AP) — A grenade hurled by a nationalist rebel yesterday in the East Algerian city of Constantine killed a 4-year-old French child and injured six members of his family.

The family was having dinner when the grenade exploded in its apartment. The attackers escaped.

Two other terrorists threw a grenade into a Constantine cafe and wounded three persons, including an 8-year-old girl.

Not Defiant, Faubus Says

High school classes were opened yesterday to 23 Negroes and several hundred white pupils. Integration of the first grade at Fort Smith, near Van Buren, was expected to go smoothly today.

Three Negroes integrated at Ozark, in northwest Arkansas, without incident.

Negroes seeking to enter their children in white schools at Birmingham, Ala., say they will not attempt to enroll them now. Seven families contend that white schools are nearest their homes.

At Clinton, Tenn., where violence accompanied integration last year, seven Negroes enrolled with about 600 white pupils.

A Negro at Houston, Tex., was turned away when he sought to register his 7-year-old daughter in a white elementary school a block from his home. He said the nearest Negro school is about 25 blocks distant.

Elsewhere on the integration front, four of the six leading hotels at Louisville, Ky., opened their doors for the first time to Negroes attending the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc.

A Negro told Birmingham, Ala., police he was severely beaten and sexually molested by a group of unmasked white men. He said

People who can easily pay any price say:

"Pay more... what for? Ford's the buy!"

Why? Because this 1957 Ford gives you the advanced features, the solid ride, the effortless handling that you once expected to find only in expensive cars. And when it comes to looks, where in all the world can you find fresher styling than in the sculptured-in-steel lines of this new Ford?

Ford's superiority is evident in many places. In the vital rear axle, the pinion gear that turns the rear wheels is straddle-mounted . . . supported between two anti-friction bearings instead of being "overhung" from a single bearing. This makes operation quieter, smoother and longer-lasting. It's a feature that Ford shares with only one other car maker—Rolls Royce.

Or consider Ford's famous V-8 engine. No other manufacturer in the industry today electronically balances every V-8 engine, while operating under its own power, the way that Ford does. This means you get a smoother-running engine—the finest V-8 in Ford's 25 years of V-8 leadership.

These are only a few of the important hidden values that are yours in the new kind of Ford. But they indicate why so many people who can pay almost any price for a car—people who have driven expensive cars for years—are buying Ford today. Action Test this great performing car at your Ford Dealer's just once and you, too, will ask, "Pay more . . . what for?"

YOU CAN SPEND HUNDREDS MORE... BUT YOU CAN'T BUY BETTER THAN THE NEW KIND OF FORD
