Batista Claims Uprising Broken

HAVANA (AP)—President Fulgencio Batista's government said today it had smashed an uprising of rebels and naval and maritime police dissidents in south central Cuba. It put total casualties at about 75.

A high command announcement said 40 to 50 rebels were killed or wounded. It reported government losses at 12 killed and 13 wounded.

The command accused former President Carlos Prío Socarrás of masterminding yesterday's day-long revolt in Cienfuegos, 150 miles southeast of Havana.

Prío was ousted by President Fulgencio Batista in 1952 and took refuge in Miami, Fla. He has repeatedly denied government charges of plotting against Batista.

The government rushed in army planes, tanks and troops after some 400 rebels seized the police headquarters in the heart of Cienfuegos and threatened to take over the port city of 52,000 persons.

Attacking with bombs, heavy machineguns and small arms, the government forces routed the rebel band. Those who escaped scattered in the hills.

In slaying the outbreak members of the armed forces for the first time joined followers of rebel guerrilla leader Fidel Castro.

SHORT DEFENSE

The rebels held up in the police headquarters just before dawn and held out most of the day against increasingly heavy blows from government military units.

Bombs plastered the police center and caused heavy damage to the City Hall. Machinegun and rifle fire turned the city's streets into a man's land.

ground floor and sell the building for $400,000.

Mrs. and Mrs. Jacob Michels and their son, Myron, are all registered pharmacists and longtime residents of the neighborhood. And they don't want to move.

ONLY STUMP

But their holdout is just a roadblock in the path to progress in the eyes of the financiers, engineers, architects and contractors erecting the office building.

The Michels brownstone is the only building remaining on the square block between Park and Lexington Aves. and 53rd and 54th Sts.

Cross Burned In Man's Yard

LEVITTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A cross was burned today on the lawn of a home next to that recently occupied by the first Negro family in this planned community of 60,000.

The five-foot cross made of tree branches was discovered in the yard of Lewis Wechsler.

Wechsler lives next door to Mr. and Mrs. William Myers Jr., who moved to Levittown in mid-August touching off eight straight nights of noisy demonstrations by other residents of the residential town.

Wechsler said he was not opposed to Myers as a neighbor and helped the Negro family get settled.

Wechsler said he had no idea who put the cross on his lawn but added he believed it was the work of children or pranksters. He discovered the blazing crossed branches when he went outside to get his morning newspaper.

The branches had been bound together with gasoline-soaked rags.

Yesterday several gasoline-filled milk bottles with crude fuses attached were found under bushes in a short distance from the Myers' home. Police said they believed they had been there some time.

Evening Prayer

Almighty and everlasting God, who art always more ready to hear than we to pray, and art wont to give more than either we desire or deserve. Pour down upon us the abundance of thy mercy, forgiving us those things whereof our conscience is afraid, and giving us those good things which we are not worthy to ask, but through the merits and mediation of Jesus Christ, thy Son, our Lord, Amen

WINSTON-SALEM (AP)—Gwendolyn Bailey, Negro student, entering Reynolds High School building without incident this morning, using a tunnel entrance from Northwest Boulevard as she did yesterday at the start of the school term.

Police protection had been provided. At least four police vehicles were spotted along the Northwest Boulevard entrance and cruising in the vicinity. Detectives mingled with people on the streets.

However, the girl appeared to attract very little attention as she emerged from a car and went through the tunnel and up the walk past the power plant to the school entrance. Only a few scattered students were in that area.

Guardsmen Arrest 4 At Little Rock

Barriers Gradually Removed

By SY RAMSEY

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Violence is practically a stranger to this quiet city of 110,000 where many racial barriers have been broken in the last few years.

White persons and Negroes ride side by side on buses and trains. Jim Crow signs were taken down with little commotion last summer.

Both races mix in amusement and recreation areas. They sat together last season at performances of the Little Rock Philharmonic Orchestra.

One of the few reminders of separation by state law are drinking fountains in some downtown stores, but they are becoming obsolete.

But the color line is sharply drawn in schools, in restaurants and on the lower floors of movie theaters.

It is the attempt to erase integration in public schools that has touched off excitement in a city that does not even have freon-gas games worthy of police attention.

A federal National Guardsmen surrounded the huge 2,000-pupil Central High School, blocking attempts to enter the school ordered by a federal court.

Gov. Orval Faubus, who mobilized the troops Monday night, says he is averting violence. Mayor Woodrow Mann, says the mobilization is a hoax with political implications.

The schism is deeper than a difference of opinion among school politicians. Little Rock itself is in the center of a state which is broadly divided geographically between eastern hills and eastern lowlands.

Negroes constitute about 22 percent of Little Rock's population but only about 10 percent of the average in North Little Rock, a separate city of about 50,000 across the Arkansas River.

In contrast to the two previous days when heckling was prevalent on school grounds, three Negro students entered schools for the first full day of classes with little interest or comment from fellow students.

Gustavas Roberts walked into Central High School this morning, where he was momentarily detained yesterday, without interference.

His younger sister, Girvaid Roberts, stood outside Piedmont Junior High School just before entering. Some students talked with her in a friendly manner before they entered the school.

Dorothy Counts, subject to harassment on Wednesday, failed to go back to Harding for the second straight day. She is at home recovering from a sore throat and is expected to return to school on Monday.

Dolores Granley reported to Alexander Graham Junior High School.

Police protection had been provided. At least four police vehicles were spotted along the Northwest Boulevard entrance and cruising in the vicinity. Detectives mingled with people on the streets.

WEAPONS FOUND — These weapons were collected the past three days in the Central High School area in Little Rock. Some weapons were removed from cars, some were found discarded on the ground.

Little Comment

Situation Quiet At City Schools

All was quiet on the Charlotte school front today, as the third day of integrated schools started without incident.

Three of four Negroes who had entered previously all-white schools appeared when school bells rang this morning.

Dorothy Geraldine Counts, a Harding High School student, failed to appear.

'Tourists' Ordered To Leave

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Watchful National Guardsmen blocking racial integration at Central High School took four white men from Minneapolis into custody this morning and released them a short time later.

State Police Capt. Alan Templeton said the four were ordered released. Other state troopers who escorted the youths from the school said all four had been told to get out of the city.

One youth, identified by Guardsmen as Murray Gallison, about 20, carried a sheath knife four to five inches long. Col. Marion Johnson, the guard said.

The other three were identified as Marion Segal, Robert Milavetz and Mike Goldman. They appeared in their early 20s.

NO ANSWERS

A dozen newsmen tried unsuccessfully to question Gallison as he passed the high school today, but a smaller crowd of demonstrators appeared across the street from the campus.

The future of the smouldering integration crisis appeared to be in the hands of a diminutive federal judge who will hear a school board plea for a truce.

A momentary lull developed yesterday in the battle over racial mixing. The Little Rock School Board offered the possibility of a temporary solution by asking federal Judge Ronald B. Davies to follow an indefinite legal postponement of integration.

HEARING SET

Judge Davies will hear the school board's petition at 10 a.m. tomorrow. Twice within a week he has ordered immediate racial mixing.

Gov. Orval Faubus, who ordered out the troops last Tuesday to keep Negro students from entering the high school, yesterday got President Eisenhower's answer to an appeal for intervention in the clash of federal and state law.

Eisenhower told Faubus that he would use all legal means at his command to uphold the federal Constitution.

The President will interrupt his vacation at Newport, R. I., to return to Washington tomorrow for an conference with Atty. Gen. Brownell.

Ky. Integration Moves Quietly

STURGIS, Ky. (AP)—Sturgis High School students in its first week of integrated classes today with a record of relative calm.

The only sign of opposition to integration yesterday came in the form of an occasional peep from a crowd of about 50 in front of the school.

Eighteen Negroes mingled with the white students without incident. Some of them ate in the school cafeteria at lunchtime.

Minor disturbances which resulted in the arrests of four persons broke out the first two days, but by yesterday tension between students, the crowd, and troopers had eased considerably.

Kentucky state police can act in incorporated areas only with the permission of city governments. The troopers have been on the scene since the Negroes enrolled Tuesday.

South Atlantic Storm Brewing

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Ship reports to the Miami Weather Bureau indicated today that a tropical storm is brewing far out in the Atlantic Ocean—in an area which has given birth to many of history's most destructive hurricanes.

Forecasters said a storm is in the formative stage out there.
