Seawell Cites Out-Of-State Pupil Danger

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's top legal officer says the state would endanger its own plans for handling segregation problems if it gave haven to children from schools closed in Virginia and Arkansas.

ATTY. GEN. SEAWELL

Atty. Gen. Malcolm B. Seawell said Thursday it would be up to local school boards to carry out provisions of state law barring public school enrollment of children whose parents or guardian live in another state.

The attorney general gave his views on the law from his office here and in a speech to the Shelby Kiwanis Club.

To avoid the law, Seawell declared, "would becloud and render suspicious the good faith motives" of North Carolina's legal plans for dealing with school segregation issues.

Already some children from schools closed by segregation troubles in Arkansas and Virginia have entered Tar Heel schools, most of them living with relatives in this state to continue their education.

"While I am sympathetic with the children involved, we must abide by the law," the attorney general said.

He pointed out that a ruling by the office in 1956, before he became attorney general, had spelled out clearly that only children of bona fide residents of the state are eligible to enter public schools.

NOT ALLOWED

In that case, Seawell noted, a Caswell County girl whose parents had moved to another state wished to remain behind to continue school, but could not do so.

Seawell, 41-year-old son of a former North Carolina attorney general and State Supreme Court Justice, has spoken out strongly in defense of the state's moderate stand on the school segregation issue under which three cities have been limited integration.

Dr. Charles F. Carroll, North Carolina superintendent of public instruction, said the power is in local hands. "If you haven't the support of the law, Dr. Carroll added, "would be of primary value to county and city boards of education."

"North Carolina cannot afford to become an asylum state for those school pupils residing in states which are now having extreme and complicated school problems," Seawell asserted.

Seawell said the law, which complicates the school in North Carolina now has in force and would be a departure from the middle-of-the-road direction in education matters which this state is now pursuing.

Extension Of Crusade Probable

Dr. Billy Graham is expected to announce tonight an extension of his Greater Charlotte Crusade through Oct. 25.

The decision was left to the evangelist by the executive committee on Tuesday, and Wednesday he discussed the matter with his team.

Yesterday he said that "in all likelihood" the crusade will be extended.

He is expected to make the announcement during the seven-night period tonight when a portion of the "Hour of Decision" is recorded locally, this reaching both the local and world-wide audience with the decision.

The reason the crusade will not be extended to Sunday, Oct. 26 is that Dr. Graham has been invited to Columbia, S.C., on that date to speak on the capitol lawn.

TONIGHT'S SUBJECT

For the 7:30 p.m. service today, Dr. Graham will speak on "Ecclesiastes," telling about alcohol, sex and suicide.

Last night's attendance was reported at 12,878 persons with 401 — lowest yet on a Youth Night — going forward to make decisions for Christ as "inquirers."

Last night Dr. Graham preached on the heart.

"What is the heart?" he asked. "Young people always use the heart as a symbol of love. I think almost every young person has a heart, but if you haven't, there's something wrong with you. You had better check out."

"The heart has a great place in the Bible. The heart is considered one of the most important organs in the body."

"The word 'heart' is used all the way through the Bible, but it is considered far more than a pump and a muscle."

Maverick, New Owner Become Acquainted

One Dog's Life

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Meet Maverick, a doughty Doberman Pinscher whose defiance of authority, contempt for conformity and rejection of security have made him a hero in the world of man.

Maverick raised himself from a pup and for four years stayed several jumps ahead of the dogcatchers. They couldn't outsmart him so they finally overpowered him last week after slowing him up with a tranquilizing charge fired from a gun.

The city's dogcatchers, who bring him, add of the four years they spent trying to catch the big, black stray.

They chased him by car and on foot but never came close. They baited traps with meat in which capsules of tranquilizing drugs were concealed. Maverick ate the meat and spit out the drugs.

They finally realized the kind of adversary they were up against when they put a female boxer in a cage with a one-way door. Maverick ripped off the back of the cage and took the dog dog into the hills with him.

At the same time he was unwilling the dogcatchers, Maverick was rebuffing all efforts by friendly residents to domesticate him. He accepted their food, raided their garbage pails, but took to his heels when they spoke of setting down.

The captured Maverick was under death sentence at the city pound unless someone adopted him. Then newspaper readers learned of his exploits and flooded the city with 1,000 requests for the animal.

So they auctioned Maverick yesterday. Mrs. Harry Crown of nearby Van Nuys plunked down $130 for the dog.

"I feel that a dog who supported himself for four years, deserves a good home," said Mrs. Crown as she led Maverick into her sleek red convertible. City pound officials, not anxious to match wits again with the crafty Maverick had this parting word of advice for Mrs. Crown: "Please keep him tied up."

Post-Oct. 31 Blasts To Nullify Ike's Offer

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United States warned today that any Soviet nuclear tests after Oct. 31 would nullify President Eisenhower's offer to withhold further testing for a one-year period.

The warning came from Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge in a major disarmament speech before the U.N.'s 41-nation Political Committee. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin was expected to state the Soviet view during the opening round of debate.

Lodge expressed regret that the Soviet Union had resumed testing nuclear weapons on the eve of the Oct. 31 talks in Geneva on a permanent suspension of tests. He said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko had thrown doubt on his government's willingness to stop tests.

BOOM FOR BOOM

He referred to Gromyko's statement that the Soviet Union might match Western tests blast for blast.

Lodge said the U.S. offer to suspend tests for one year was made to facilitate the Geneva talks "and it would be regrettable indeed if the Soviet Union took steps which had the opposite effect."

He declared that the resumption of Soviet testing had raised a question as to whether the U.S. offer still holds.

"I am authorized," he added, "to assure the United Nations on behalf of the United States government that, as President Eisenhower announced, we will withhold further testing for one year from the date the negotiations begin — unless, of course, the Soviet Union conducts further tests beyond that date."

Accused Judge Silent About Shooting Friend

CHESTERFIELD, S. C. (AP) — Chesterfield Judge W. E. Redfern, who has admitted shooting a friend, declined to answer police questions today about the wounding.

Funeral Director Rudolph Hursey, 56, was still listed in serious condition this morning at a Florence hospital. But attendees said his condition improved somewhat during the night and he is doing "fairly well."

Redfern admitted the shooting but has given no explanation. He has been held on an open charge since Hursey was shot in the stomach with a .25 caliber pistol at his funeral home here yesterday.

NO ANSWERS

Dep. Sheriff D. D. Hill said he sought to question the ousted probate judge on the jail this morning, but Redfern declined to answer questions about the shooting. He quoted Redfern as saying he "didn't talk now."

Hill said he plans to question Redfern again later today.

Mrs. Kirkley said Hursey was in the hospital early today. She said she was called to her office shortly after the shooting and awaited arrest.

Hursey was rushed to the hospital and underwent two hours of surgery on an abdominal wound. Doctors said Hursey was expected to recover.

"I've been shot. Get me to a doctor," Hursey was heard to gasp.

Redfern, 58, was ordered removed from the office of probate judge by Gov. Timmerman last July.

The governor found him guilty of "gross misconduct and persistent neglect of duty." Timmerman took the action after a hearing on the charges had been held before him.

Redfern had been charged with public drunkenness and running a marriage mail counter to regulations involving the issuing of licenses.

The removal hearing opened May 8 but was recessed until after the June primary elections so that Redfern might campaign for re-election. This was successfully done by beating Mrs. Marge Pusey by 4,340 votes to 3,719.
