Ex-Con Admits Slaying Family Of 4 in Kansas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. Jan. 3 (AP)—Police said Sunday an ex-convict has given a verbal statement that he was responsible for the shotgun murders of four members of a Kansas farm family.

Detective Lt. D. J. Handlon of the Las Vegas police department said the admission was made by Richard Eugene Hickock, 28, of Edgerton, Kan., and that Hickock implicated a fellow ex-convict, Perry Edward Smith, 31, of Las Vegas.

The two men have been under questioning here in connection with the Clutter family murders.

Herbert W. Clutter, 45; his wife, Bonnie, 42; a daughter, Nancy Mae, 16, and a son, Kenyon, 15, were found bound, gagged and shot to death in their farm home near Garden City, Kan., Nov. 15.

Handlon said Hickock made a full admission and that his statement was recorded on tape. Hickock and Smith were questioned separately Sunday by agents of the Kansas Bureau of Investigation.

Suspect Faints.

After giving the statement, Hickock fainted in a hallway outside the interrogation room. He collapsed into the arms of Handlon and Kansas Agent Clarence C. Duntz.

Discovery of the slayings was made by two of Nancy's schoolmates, Mary Ewalt and Susan Kidwell, who had gone to the home to ride to church with the Clutters.

The bodies of Mrs. Clutter and Nancy were in separate bedrooms. Clutter and Kenyon were found in the basement. All but Kenyon were wearing pajamas. He had on blue jeans and a T-shirt.

The coroner said the bodies of the mother and daughter showed no signs of sexual molestation. There was no immediate evidence of robbery, although it was brought out recently that a radio and other items were later found to be missing. A diamond ring and a church envelope containing several dollars were on Nancy's desk.

Clutter was a well-to-do farmer who was active in local, state and national agricultural affairs. He and his family were devout church members, and the two youngsters were popular in school as well as tops in their classes scholastically.

Looking for Safe.

At Garden City, County Attorney Duane West said KBI Agent Al Dewey gave him an outline of Hickock's statement. It was:

Hickock said he and Smith entered the Clutter home between midnight and 1 a. m. Sunday, Nov. 15, through an unlocked door. They went into a first-floor bedroom where they found Clutter in bed.

They were looking for a safe which they intended to rob, Hickock said. They took Clutter upstairs where Mrs. Clutter and the children were in bed.

Hickock and Smith got the three up and locked all four members of the family in the bathroom while Smith searched the house.

Smith didn't find the safe, so they took Clutter to the basement and tied him up. Then they returned and got the son and also tied him in the basement. Mrs. Clutter and Nancy were tied in their beds.

Hickock said he stood guard while Smith tied Kenyon to a pipe in the basement near where his father was lying on the floor.

Hickock said Clutter's throat was cut first, and then they shot him and the three others one by one. Then the two men fled in their car.

West said he will file murder charges against Hickock and Smith Monday morning.

The county attorney said there wasn't any safe in the Clutter home. The family used to live in another house north of Garden City in the late 1940s and possibly had a safe at that time, West said.

'PAPA SHOULD BE MAMA'

Women Declare Mother's Day Not Enough, Want Full Week

CHICAGO, Jan. 3 (CTS)—A brand new feminist movement was born in Chicago Sunday. It is called SAPS, which is short for Society for the Appreciation and Preservation of Spouses.

Its nucleus is a considerable number of Chicagoland women who feel that Mother's Day is not enough, because it is just one little old day.

These women declared solemnly that there has to be a National Spouse Week, and that it shall be Feb. 1 through 7, starting next month. During that period, these youthful wives and mothers demand a week off to convene and rejoice and let somebody else be the baby sitter.

In an inaugural meeting of SAPS in the Town and Country Club here, Mrs. Jane Costner, 32, of Chicago, executive secretary to the president of the Combined Insurance Company of America, said:

"It is about time."

Mrs. Sally Fairbanks, 28, of Bloomington, Ill., was reminded that the word "spouse" goes both ways, meaning either husband or wife, and she replied:

"I know it. But if he can go off to Detroit or some place like that for a week of bowling tournaments every year, I guess I can join the Society for the Appreciation and Preservation of Spouses.

"I need to be appreciated and preserved."

"Aren't you?"

"Of course, but do I have to do all the baby sitting?"

Mrs. Jeanette Verhaeghe, 34, of Racine, Wis., said: "I think every mother in the world needs a week's vacation."

Mrs. Mavis Agerheilm, 31, also of Racine, agreed to this thinking, which might well have international implications, saying: "Papa should be mama once in awhile."

A militant resolution was presented by Mrs. Margaret Jane Fink, 31, of Chicago, and it received unanimous approval. It went something like this:

"Hereafter, let it be resolved, that everybody address letters to 'Mrs. and Mr. John Doe' instead of to Mr. and Mrs. John Doe,' in case anybody knows anybody named John Doe."

159 Arrested In Drinking, Gambling Spot

BOSTON, Jan. 3 (AP) — Police staged a raid on a supposedly unoccupied building in the South End Sunday and seized 159 persons in a flourishing after-hours drinking and gambling spot.

Liquor, cash, knives, a pistol and gaming devices were confiscated during the raid which Police Capt. James V. Crowley described as one of the biggest since prohibition days.

Crowley said 66 women, 39 men and two bartenders were in an unlicensed cocktail lounge which occupied the second floor of the three-story building.

The captain said 52 men were arrested at gaming tables on the top floor. Fifteen men were seized as they bolted toward the stairs.

The men and women taken into custody were both white and Negro. Crowley said the confusion was so hectic when police burst into the apartment the raiding party, consisting of 45 police, thought they had seized several hundred participants.

Police released all the women after questioning, but 64 men were booked on various charges. The proprietor of the establishment was not present when the raid occurred, Crowley said.

Among those arrested, Crowley said, were five men wanted on non-support charges by other cities.

The captain said entrance to the spot on Northampton St. was permitted only by persons possessing membership cards in the "South End Democratic Club."

Ex-Convict Gives Up, Frees Captive Officer

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 3 (AP)—An ex-convict voluntarily surrendered to police Saturday night after holding a policeman captive in his own radio car for nearly an hour earlier in the day.

Bert Witt, 27-year-old San Quentin Prison parolee, phoned headquarters to pick him up. "I am mentally ill," he said, "I need help."

Witt was sought throughout the day for kidnaping Oakland Policeman Claude Hardy in the officer's police car, binding him with his own handcuffs and threatening him with his own gun.

Sixteen hours before Witt surrendered, the commandeered patrol car moved for 40 minutes around Oakland, driven by the convict while he held a gun at the head of the kidnaped officer. Over the police radio, Witt warned other alerted patrol cars to stay away. They did.

Hardy, 32, was released unharmed and his patrol car later was found abandoned.

Witt and a blond accomplice had grabbed Hardy, 32, when he went to his car to radio for a license check.

Hardy had stopped Witt to tell him his rear tires looked low. As it turned out, the old car was trunk-heavy with a safe containing $10,000 in cash and checks.

Before Witt, booked for suspicion of kidnaping and burglary, turned himself in, police picked up Diane Morgan, 18, of near-by Alameda. Hardy said she helped Witt overpower him by belting him on the side of the head with a heavy object. She was held for investigation.

Police said Witt confessed both the kidnaping and the $10,000 safe robbery.

Deputy Sheriff Found Dead in Mississippi

WINONA, Miss., Jan. 3 (AP)—Montgomery County Deputy Sheriff William L. Kelly was stabbed 26 times and beaten to death Saturday night, on the eve of his last day as an employe of the sheriff's office.

Sheriff Lawrence King and Deputy Arthur Henson discovered Kelly's body at 1:50 a. m. Sunday. King said the body was in the sheriff's vault in the County Courthouse.

Kelly's wallet, with $150 to $250, was missing. No county funds were reported missing. The sheriff's office was ransacked.

Kelly, 27, was stabbed in the neck and back and was beaten about the head and shoulders. There was no indication that Kelly, a powerful man, had a chance to defend himself.

No weapons were found and no arrest was made immediately.

Kelly is survived by his wife; a 2-year-old son; his mother, Mrs. W. L. McClure of Winona, and stepfather, W. L. McClure.

Kelly, due to go out of office Monday when King's term as sheriff expires, worked late Saturday night getting the office books in order for the change-over to incoming Sheriff Earl Wayne Patridge.

Kelly telephoned the county jail, in a separate building about two blocks away, around 10 p. m., and that was the last anyone heard of him. When King and Henson drove past the courthouse on their way home from a patrol, they noticed the lights on in the sheriff's office, and they stopped.

Coroner J. W. Herring said an inquest verdict was left open, and Kelly's body was taken to Jackson for an autopsy by Dr. Forrest Bratley at the University Medical Center. The body was to be returned to Winona for funeral services.

Kelly had been in the sheriff's office a year. Prior to that he had worked as an electrician. He was slated to take a job with an electrical firm in Jackson Monday.

Outgoing District Attorney John E. Aldridge of Winona and his successor, Chatwin M. Jackson of Kosciusko, were working on the case along with King, Patridge and Mississippi Highway Patrol chief investigator, Gwinn C. Cole, and Patrol Investigator Kenneth Fairley.

Man Leaps 10 Stories To End Life

SAVANNAH, Ga., Jan. 3 (UPI). Barret Jones, 39, a familiar bearded man who preached on street corners to anyone who would stop to listen, plunged 10 stories to his death Sunday.

Behind, in a television studio on the 10th floor of the Liberty Bank Building, Jones left this cryptic note: "If you must not do something, do not do it. But, if you must do something, go ahead and do it."

Jones died two hours after his leap in a local hospital without regaining consciousness. His fall had been partially broken when he crashed into an automobile on the street below, smashing the hood down to the motor.

Jones' wife, a waitress, said he was a World War II veteran and long-time merchant marine who decided to become a preacher after attending a convocation in California.

She said they had an argument because he wanted her to quit her job and take up preaching on street corners with him.

Witnesses said Jones, his face clean shaven, entered the bank building Sunday morning, went to the 10th floor, walked through the TV studio, put his note on a table near a window, then leaped out.

Housewife Loses Life In Wringer Accident

WINCHESTER, Va., Jan. 3 (AP). A Frederick County housewife was killed Sunday when a kerchief around her head became entangled in the wringer of a washing machine.

The body of Mrs. Maxine Lee Boyce, 33-year-old mother of two, was discovered beneath the overturned washer by her husband, James Boyce.

Police said Mrs. Boyce apparently had been unable to disentangle the kerchief from the rolling wringer and had overturned the washing machine in her struggle to pull free. The kerchief was pulled tightly about her neck.

Laotian Army Takes Control Of Tiny Nation

Red Press Charges Military Commanders 'Highly' Pro-American

TOKYO, Jan. 3 (UPI). — The royal Laotian army "compelled" King Savang Vitthana to turn over all power to it effective Saturday, New China News Agency reported Sunday.

Quoting Vientiane reports, it said Army Commander Sounthone Pathammavong "put the demand to the king and the latter had agreed to hand over state power to the army high command."

He declared invalid all bills adopted recently by the National Assembly.

The turnover was officially announced in a series of communiques broadcast by Radio Vientiane.

In another communique, Pathammavong announced that all government ministries and institutions would henceforth be led by the army high command.

Tanks Reported Used.

New China called the army leaders "extremely pro-American."

It charged the army had "demonstrated with army units and tanks in Vientiane and placed guards over the royal government, National Assembly and the palace, and then grabbed the state power."

Radio Peiping also quoted the North Vietnam newspaper Nhandan that "pro-American" army in Laos had seized control of the country at the "instigation and support" of the U. S. military advisers.

'Reactionary Dichards.'

The newspaper called the army leaders "pro-American reactionary diehards" and accused them of calling for immediate elections "so that they win with the help of bayonets, rub out progressive forces . . ." .

It said that "the most brazen pro-American militarists in Laos who are leading the committee for the defense of national interests' used armed force to goad the newly reshuffled Phoui Sananikone government into resignation."

The army has seized power "with the aim of establishing the most reactionary pro-American militarist regime in Laos," the Communist newspaper said.

Airman Killed In Gangfight

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 3 (AP)—An 18-year-old airman, home on furlough from New Mexico for the holidays, was stabbed to death in a teen-age gangfight early Sunday.

The stabbing took place on a vacant lot in St. Louis.

A-3C Laresta Orlander Reese, of suburban Kirkwood, was dead on arrival at St. Louis County Hospital. He had been stabbed once in the chest.

Police said another youth also was stabbed in the chest, and seriously wounded.

The two brawling groups had been attending a birthday party. Police said an argument began at the party, and the youths then drove to the vacant lot where the interrupted argument continued.

Several clubs were wielded by the young brawlers.

Authorities said John Watson Rhodes, 18, of suburban Webster Groves, has been charged with manslaughter.

None of the other youths involved was arrested.

All of the brawlers were Negroes. Reese was on furlough from Walker Air Force Base, New Mexico.

Iran Paper Lists Iraqi Violations

TEHRAN, Iran, Jan. 3 (AP).—A foreign ministry white paper accused Iraq Sunday of violating Iran's border, murdering villagers and sending planes over Iranian waters and naval installations.

The white paper detailed Iran's case in the long border dispute with Premier Abdel Karim Kassem's Iraqi regime, now centering around the vital Shatt Al Arab waterway. The ministry apparently referred to incidents of some time ago. The border has been quiet recently.

Tehran newspapers, meanwhile, said the government sent a warning to Baghdad Saturday that any Iraqi caught approaching ships anchored on Iran's side of the Shatt Al Arab will be shot.

Tanker Approached.

The press accounts said two Iraqis in a rowboat approached a tanker loading oil but fled when challenged. The Shatt Al Arab links Iran's giant Abadan oil refinery with the Persian Gulf.

Iraq claims control of all the Shatt Al Arab. Iran contends that under a 1938 agreement the boundary is at midstream in the Abadan area.

The white paper returned to Iran's quarrel with Iraq over tolls collected by the Iraqis on the Shatt Al Arab. The white paper accused Iraq of using the revenues to build airports and hotels. Under the agreement, Iraq was to use the money to improve navigation on the waterway.

The foreign ministry accused Iraq of searching Iranian ships and objecting to the arrival of Iran-Pan-American Oil Company vessels at Khusroabad, a port downstream from Abadan.

No Toll Paid.

The white paper said Iraq even called for the trial of the captains of the ships sailing to Khusroabad, although they proceeded under the Iranian flag.

In an attempt to test Iraqi intentions, Iran sailed an Iranian Oil Company supply ship past Iraqi gun batters to Khusroabad Saturday. Accompanied by two small naval patrol craft, the supply ship paid no toll.

There was no challenge from the small Iraqi fort at Fao, at the mouth of the Shatt Al Arab. Three or four Iraqi soldiers simply waved from the river bank.

The white paper gave no dates for any border incidents. It said Iraqi soldiers and police committed aggression by entering Iranian villages near the Iraq border and these forays often ended in the killing of villagers.

Iraq has denied previous Iranian charges of border violations and flights over Iran.

Propaganda Called Cloak Of Nixon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP). — Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler called Vice President Nixon, Sunday "the same Mr. Nixon in a propaganda cloak."

Butler used this description when asked on a TV program whether he felt Nixon had changed greatly since his days as a young Republican congressman from California.

Accepting the theory Nixon will win the Republican presidential nomination by default, Butler said the Vice President has been picked by the GOP "bosses" who also have decided their party should have no general discussion of issues prior to the election campaign.

In contrast, Butler said, the Democrats "welcome this opportunity" to air the issues through the contention of several men for the Democratic nomination.

Butler referred several times to Nixon's successful campaigns against Democratic Reps. Jerry Voorhies and Helen Gahagan Douglas, claiming veiled insinuations of Communistic leanings were made against them. Butler also said Nixon "doublecrossed the governor of California." Republican Earl Warren who later became chief justice of the United States.

CALL ED-2-7451

East Coast Lashed By Winds and Rain

By Associated Press.

The remnants of a rugged Midwest storm lashed the East Coast with gale-force winds, rain and chilling temperatures Sunday.

The storm that skipped through the upper Great Lakes region Saturday night concentrated its heaviest assault in New England, where Providence, R. I., and Boston clocked winds upwards of 60 m.p.h.

Before the storm abated late Sunday, strong gusts ripped the aircraft carrier Shipley Bay from its mooring near Castle Island off South Boston. But the big ship, recently sold for junk by the Navy, rode out the storm in the ship channel.

At the same time, most of the Atlantic seaboard was drenched and temperatures dipped crisply from Maine to northern Florida.

Block Island and Concord in New Hampshire each recorded an inch of rain. Some minor flooding was reported in southern Massachussets.

At the Atlanta airport, the downpour was welcomed. Hundreds of travelers had been marooned until the weather front cleared a heavy fog and restored air traffic.

The area east of the northern Rockies and southward from the Northern Plains to the Rio Grande was in deep freeze.

Cold wave warnings were issued for northern Illinois, Wisconsin and western upper Michigan.

Temperatures in Wisconsin were expected to drop 10 to 15 degrees below zero through the night.

Southern California continued to shiver from an unseasonal cold that dropped temperatures well below freezing in the citrus belt for the third straight night Saturday and showed no sign of a letup.

Palmdale recorded an overnight low of 17. Other points in the crop area reported lows in in the 20s.

With the danger to crops increasing, more subfreezing temperatures were expected Sunday night.

In Montana and the Dakotas, readings hovered around the zero mark, while the Southern Plains warmed to the 20s and 30s.

Some afternoon temperatures and weather conditions around the country:

Boston 43 rain, New York 50 fair, Washington 53 fair, Miami 78 partly cloudy, Louisville 33 cloudy, Detroit 34 snow flurries, Chicago 24 cloudy, St. Louis 20 fair, Minneapolis 5 fair, Kansas City 26 fair, Denver 17 fair, Dallas 39 partly cloudy, Los Angeles 52 partly cloudy, San Francisco 47 clear, Phoenix 42 clear, Seattle 32 partly cloudy, Anchorage 33 cloudy, Honolulu 75 clear.

Nicaragua Searching For Raiders

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 3 (AP).—Raiders invaded Nicaragua from Honduras Saturday night and are being pursued by Nicaraguan national guard patrols, the government announced Sunday.

A government statement said the invaders were mercenaries led by Heriberto Reyes, whom it called "an old highwayman and former lieutenant." Unofficial sources reported the band killed two civilians.

Nicaragua has protested to Honduras.

The government said the invaders crossed the frontier in the region of Santa Clara in the province of Nueva Segovia. They cut telephone and telegraph lines to the city of Ocotal. The government said it restored the communications lines Sunday morning.

The raid "need not cause unrest or provoke alarm among the civilian army because it concerns a limited number of rogues who will fall into the hands of the national guard from one minute to the other," its communique added.

SEARCH ENDS

Last of Crew From Vessel Safe in Port

SINGAPORE, Jan. 3 (UPI).—The four-day rescue operation and search for crewmen of the American freighter Valley Forge was called off Sunday when confirmation was received that the remaining "missing" were safe in an Indonesian port.

That accounted for all 37 of the crew including the master.

Since the vessel went aground and began breaking up under the pounding of gale-driven winds Thursday morning, tugs, ships and planes have co-operated in the rescue operation.

The Singapore harbor tug Griper brought in the first eight men Friday night. An RAF plane spotted another 22 on an island Thursday and dropped them food supplies. They were taken off in a hazardous operation by Royal Navy sailors Saturday and returned to Singapore Saturday night.

Until midday that left the remaining seven, including most of the officers and the master "believed to be safe in the Indonesian port of Tanjong Piang."

Official sources said later the men were actually safe in the Indonesian port.

Late reports said the liberty ship itself was still above water but practically awash, "laboring heavily."

A spokesman for the agents said the ship is "probably a total loss."

The agents spokesman said he did not know when transportation to Singapore could be arranged for the seven presently in Tanjong Piang.

The Valley Forge, carrying some 10,000 tons of wheat from Portland, Ore., to Calcutta and Madras, India, was grounded on Barking Kap Rock during a storm Thursday morning.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoidal conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H.® Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.
