

THE FRESNO BEE

Vol. 103, No. 18601

Founded 1922

FRESNO, CALIFORNIA, Tuesday, April 16, 1974

15c

58 Pages, 4 Sections

FINAL EDITION

Subpoena For 63 Talks

Jaworski Asks Tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski asked U.S. District Court today to issue a subpoena for tapes of 63 conversations in the White House.

Jaworski said he had tried unsuccessfully to get access to the materials through President Nixon's Watergate lawyer James D. St. Clair but since he has received no response "I feel obligated to seek these materials by subpoena."

He said the tapes and other items are needed for the trial of John N. Mitchell, H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman and four other defendants in the Watergate cover-up.

The trial is scheduled to begin Sept. 9.

"The materials for which a subpoena is sought consist of tapes and other electrical and or mechanical recordings or reproductions or any memoranda, papers, transcripts or other writings... between the President of the United States and persons who are defendants or potential witnesses in the case."

In a letter written to St. Clair last Thursday, and revealed today with his motion, Jaworski warned the White House he would seek a subpoena today if he was not given some assurances that the materials would be turned over.

"I have conferred with you several times during the last month about this matter," Jaworski wrote. "I have delayed seeking a subpoena in the hope that the President would comply with our request voluntarily."

Jaworski said his requests were entirely separate from anything sought by the House Judiciary Committee but that St. Clair had "refused to consider them separately."

Jaworski said his staff has information that the materials contain evidence relevant to the trial.

The attachment listed 46 dates for which Jaworski asked information.

They included:

—A June 20, 1972, meeting and two telephone conversations between the President and Charles W. Colson, a former White House aide who is one of the seven defendants.

—On June 23, 1973, three meetings between the President and H.R. Haldeman.

These two days are within one week of the break-in of Democratic Party headquarters in the Watergate office complex.

The list also includes a number of See Jaworski Page A4

Girl believed to be Patricia Hearst—snapped in act. UPI Telephoto

FBI Hunts Hearst Girl In Robbery

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The FBI today sought Patricia Hearst as one of four rifle-toting women who held up a San Francisco bank Monday, shot two bystanders and escaped with more than $100,000.

Authorities said the 20-year-old kidnap victim may have been forced to participate against her will.

Miss Hearst was identified in pictures taken by a hidden bank camera. Kidnaped 10 weeks ago by the Symbionese Liberation Army, Miss Hearst, in a tape-recorded message, renounced her parents and her former life 13 days ago and said she was joining forces with her captors. She said she has changed her name to "Tania."

A warrant was issued for Miss Hearst, granddaughter of famed newspaper founder William Randolph Hearst, as a material witness in the robbery.

"She may have been acting under duress and coercion," said FBI Special Agent in Charge, Charles W. Bates, in explaining why she was sought as a material witness instead of a participant. Three other women were named as suspects, and police said five men apparently also were involved—four of them waiting outside in two getaway cars.

Bates said if it were determined that Miss Hearst was a willing participant, she also would be charged with bank robbery.

The robbery took place shortly after the 9 a.m. opening of a Hibernia Bank branch in San Francisco's ocean-side Sunset District. The four women—all young and white, wearing dark coats and "waffle-stomper" type boots and carrying semi-automatic rifles—and a man entered the bank with military-like precision, scooped $10,000 from cash drawers after ordering patrons and employees to lie on the floor, then fled through the front door, firing at passersby.

Two men were seriously wounded, but both were reported in satisfactory condition at a hospital. They are Peter Markoff, 59, who operates a nearby liquor store, and Eugene Brennan, 70, who lives near the scene.

A hidden camera in the bank took several dramatic photographs of the gun-wielding robbers, including one showing the woman identified as Patricia carrying a gun but with another of the robbers appearing to be holding a gun on her.

It was because of this picture, plus apparent efforts by the robbers to go out of their way to identify her as "Tania," that authorities speculated she was forced to take part.

"There's reason to believe she was not a willing partner in the kidnaping or the bank robbery," said U.S. Attorney James Browning.

The three women named in bank robbery warrants were Nancy Ling Perry, Patricia Michelle Soltysik and Camilla Catherine Hall, all believed previously to be members of the tiny See Hearst Girl Page A4

FBI says this photo shows Patricia Hearst at bank robbery with gun pointed at her. UPI Telephoto

Robbery Suspects: Unlikely 3

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A prison reformer, a one-time social worker and a former topless dancer may seem like unlikely suspects, but they are wanted for the robbery of a San Francisco bank Monday as female members of the Symbionese Liberation Army.

The best known of the trio is Nancy Ling Perry, 26, a former dancer in San Francisco's North Beach who once campaigned for Sen. Barry Goldwater's presidential election campaign.

The others are Patricia Soltysik and Camilla Christine Hall.

Missing newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst has also been identified from photos taken during the robbery but the FBI says it is only seeking her as a material witness until it can be determined whether she participated in the robbery willingly or unwillingly.

The FBI today circulated pictures of the SLA trio and copies of the bank robbery warrants for their arrest.

Miss Perry, known in the SLA as "Faizah," drew attention to herself recently as the writer of a rambling essay on the terrorist group's aims. It was one of several communications to the parents of the abducted Miss Hearst.

In her essay, Miss Perry reviewed her transition from conservative junior high school cheerleader in Santa Rosa to SLA "soldier."

She is also wanted in Contra Costa County, across the bay from San Francisco, in connection with an attempt to burn down a house used as an SLA headquarters. Police found volumes of SLA literature in the house last January, shortly after two other SLA members, Joseph Ramirez and Russell Little, were arrested nearby on murder charges in the area. See Holdup Page A4

County Approves Methadone Program For Young Addicts

An outpatient methadone detoxification treatment program which could aid some 1,500 to 2,000 young heroin addicts in the county has been approved for the Fresno County Mental Health Department.

The program, which will consist of a three-week detoxification process and intensive counseling and referral to supportive services, will be available to addicts who are 18 years of age or over.

The program will bridge the gap left by the county's methadone maintenance program, which treats mainly "hardcore" addicts who have been addicted for at least two years and have two documented failures at withdrawal, which usually meant police arrests.

The new program for first-time addicts differs from the maintenance program in that it is designed to get young people off drugs entirely. Under the maintenance program, methadone serves as a substitute for heroin.

Under the outpatient detoxification program a person need only have his addiction confirmed through tests, said Terrance Brenna, Fresno County Substance Abuse coordinator.

Brenna said applications will be taken for entrance into the program beginning Monday. Persons should apply at the narcotics abuse treatment program building on the grounds of the Fresno County Mental Health Department offices at Cedar and Kings Canyon Avenues.

Brenna emphasized that detoxification, which he called a simple medical process, is only the beginning of the treatment program. It emphasized the individual's commitment to staying "drug free."

During the treatment program, Brenna said, clients will be monitored to see that they are not using other drugs.

The treatment program does not involve hospitalization, Brenna said. The client will be treated at the clinic once or possibly twice a day, depending on the degree of addiction.

Brenna said he feels the program is a "good alternative" to existing heroin addiction treatment. The county's methadone maintenance program is at its capacity of 150 patients, Brenna said, and has a waiting list of 100 persons.

In the Bee Today

- Amusements, Theaters ..... A14
- Bridge ..... D7
- Classified ..... D9 To D15
- Comics ..... C9
- Contemporary Life ..... A16, A17
- Editorials ..... A18
- Financial ..... D6, D7
- News In Brief ..... C2
- Obituaries ..... D9
- Politics By Rodda ..... A3
- Sports ..... D3 To D5
- Stop Killing Yourself ..... A17
- Sylvia Porter ..... D6
- Television ..... A12
- Vital Statistics ..... D8
- Weather ..... D7
- Your Horoscope ..... C9

Top News Inside

World
Egypt warns Israel on Golan Heights fighting, A4.

Saigon cancels Paris peace talks as heavy fighting rages, C2.

Nation
Treasury bans melting or exporting of copper pennies, A5.
Moss says Agnew no longer receives special privileges at taxpayers' expense, A11.

State And Local
Assembly votes to bar police checks of petition signers, A2.

UFW Wins Labor Pact, Loses Another

By George L. Baker
Fresno Bee Staff Writer

The United Farm Workers of America has retained one of its biggest farm labor contracts, but apparently lost another one to the rival Teamsters Union.

Former Fresno Lionel Steinberg of the Coachella Valley renewed his one-year contract with the UFW Monday.

K. K. Larson of Thermal, who held one of the last two remaining table grape contracts with the UFW, was expected to sign a collective bargaining agreement with the Teamsters sometime today.

Mrs. Larson, who handles labor relations for the 200-acre farm, was scheduled to negotiate with William Grant, chief organizer for the Western Conference of Teamsters, today in Palm Springs.

The new one-year pact with Steinberg, covering about 1,000 workers at peak harvest, calls for an 11-cent-an-hour increase in the basic wage to $2.51.

Steinberg, in a press briefing at his office Monday afternoon, said the total wage package would cost him more than $3 an hour, making his farmworkers the highest such paid workers in the world.

While the total wage and fringe benefit package is "exceedingly close" to that contained in Teamster pacts, Steinberg said, workers under the UFW pact will have about 10 cents more per hour in take-home pay, while the Teamster pacts contain slightly more in pension benefits.

Steinberg was one of the first California growers to sign with the UFW in 1970. He remained with the union last year when all but two table grape growers signed with the Teamsters Union, following the expiration of their UFW pacts.

The contract was signed Monday just a few hours before UFW chief Cesar Chavez and Steinberg appeared together at his office to announce the pact. Negotiations had been going on for about two months.

Steinberg is the largest single grower in the Coachella Valley, 130 miles southeast of Los Angeles, employing about one-sixth of all workers in the grape-growing area, which accounts for about 10 per cent of the state's table grape crop.

Larson's decision to negotiate with See UFW Page A4

A Taxing Chore

Colleen McCutcheon, left, sorts part of the more than a half-million pieces of mail which arrived Monday, the filing deadline at the Internal Revenue Service Center in Fresno. More than 8.5 million taxpayers in California and Hawaii file their returns with the data processing center at Butler and Willow Avenues. Center officials say that by Thursday, from $40 million to $80 million in payments will be arriving at the facility daily. The facility is operating 24 hours a day processing the tax returns. See Photo by Ryan Marty

Today's Chuckle

Letters on the back of a school bus: "Approach with care — Driver under the influence of children."

IS THIS PATTY HEARST WITH A WIG? FBI says it is—photo was made inside the bank

PATTY A PUPPET IN SLA DRAMA?

San Francisco Examiner

109th Year No. 265

☆☆☆

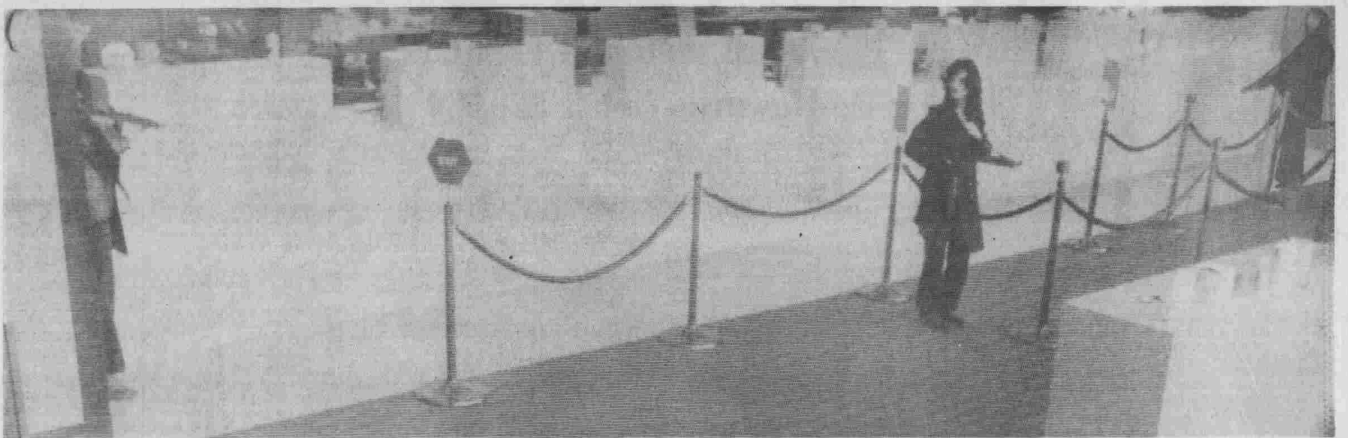

SU 1-2424

TUESDAY, APRIL 16, 1974

DAILY 15c

FINAL EDITION COMPLETE STOCKS

One of the bank invaders—the FBI says it is Patricia Hearst—stands in front of tellers' cages . . . guns of the robbers are trained on her from either side

Calley's sentence halved; may be out in 6 months

WASHINGTON — Army Secretary Howard Callaway reduced Lt. William Calley's My Lai massacre sentence from 20 to 10 years today on grounds Calley might have sincerely believed he was only obeying orders.

Callaway's decision makes Calley eligible for parole in six months and moves his case into the hands of President Nixon, who could reduce the sentence further or overturn the conviction.

Under the law, Calley's sentence cannot be increased.

Nixon promised "final review" of the case when Calley's murder conviction, at a court-martial three years ago, sparked an outburst of national emotion.

A presidential spokesman said today the documents from Callaway had been received and the White House stood by Nixon's remarks three years ago that he would make the final review of the sentence.

Calley has been free on bail since February, awaiting Callaway's review.

Callaway said he acted because of "sufficient mitigating circumstances," indicating that Lt. Calley may have sincerely believed that he was acting in accordance with the orders he had received and that he was not aware of his responsibility to refuse such an illegal order.

In addition, he said, Calley "is but one of many who were involved in this affair."

Calley was originally convicted and sentenced March 31, 1974, to life imprisonment for murdering "no less than" 22 South Vietnamese civilians during a military sweep March 16, 1968. The sentence was later reduced by his commanding officer to 20 years.

On Nixon's orders, Calley

—See Back Page, Col. 8

Stocks climb best in month

NEW YORK — Investors went on a buying spree today, boosting the Dow Jones Industrial 17.44 points to 861.23, sharpest gain since the DJ added 19.24 on March 5.

The market rise was triggered by evidence that interest rates are topping out.

Details on page 51.

'It's terrible, vicious,' father says

"It's terrible. It's something that I think is one of the most vicious things I have ever seen or ever had happen to me," said Examiner editor Randolph Hearst on his arrival home today.

"Sixty days ago she was a lovely child. Sixty days later there's a picture of her in the bank with a gun in her hand.

"Like any father you'd have a reaction . . . How do you think anybody would feel?"

With those words, Hearst arrived home from Mexico today and began coping with the implication of his kidnapped daughter, Patricia, 20, in a bank robbery in which two persons were wounded.

Greeted at the airport by a swarm of newsmen, Hearst insisted he did not want to talk about his daughter's role in yesterday's $10,000 holdup of a Sunset branch of Hibernia Bank.

Patricia may have been

—See Back Page, Col. 8

Guns point at 'Tania' in bank

By Jane Eshleman Conant

Yesterday's big bank holdup here may have been staged as an arrogant display of the kidnaped Patricia Hearst as a "converted" member of the Symbionese Liberation Army, investigators speculated today.

"We are discussing the possibility very thoroughly that this was a staged job to show off Patty Hearst as a member of their ranks," said Mortimer McInerney, police captain of inspectors.

But police and the FBI weren't ready to "buy" the SLA message, officers said.

A warrant was issued for Patty's arrest—but only as a material witness to the $10,000 robbery in the Hibernia Bank's Sunset District branch at 1450 Noriega St.

"We are not ruling out the possibility that she was a willing participant," said Charles Bates, FBI special agent in charge here. "On the other hand, there is evidence she was not."

Bates said an automatic camera in the bank, which took pictures of Patricia holding a gun, also showed that "there was a gun held by another person on her."

U.S. Attorney James Browning Jr. said:

"If she was involved and investigation shows that we're going to charge her as a bank robber."

But he said it "is clear from the photographs she may have been acting under duress."

If she was an unwilling participant, Bates was asked at a news conference this morning, why didn't she try to escape?

"Well, you're asking me what's in a person's mind," he said, "and I just don't know."

A huge manhunt was under way throughout the City.

- The militant female leadership of the SLA was brought into sharper focus by yesterday's bank robbery, Page 3.
- How bank's spy camera works, Page 20.
- Accused SLA pair plead not guilty to Foster murder, Page 20.

seeking the nine men and women involved in the strange case in which two innocent bystanders were shot.

Peter Markoff, 39, a neighborhood liquor merchant, and Eugene Brennan, 70, a resident, both were hit in the stomach. They were in "serious but stable" condition at San Francisco General Hospital today.

In a major new development today, a federal warrant was issued for the arrest of Donald DeFrees, the escaped convict who calls himself "Cinque" and leads the SLA.

He was accused as the bearded, gun-wielding black man who entered the bank with Patty and three other women and staged the robbery yesterday morning.

The bank's photos of the five had led to belief earlier that the man involved was "Cinque," but he was not charged until this afternoon, after "a close associate" identified the pictures.

The person who put the finger on DeFrees was not identified.

Two of the four persons who waited outside the bank in two getaway cars had descriptions matching those of SLA members Willie Wolfe, 25, and Emily Harris, 27. However Bates said the FBI does not have sufficient information on which to base warrants for them.

Earlier warrants named three women linked to the SLA — Nancy Ling Perry, 26; Patricia Michelle Soltysik, 23, and Camilla Christine Hall, 29 — as participants in the holdup.

But it was the role of the kidnaped Patty that was of prime concern to the police.

The 20-year-old University of California student, daughter of Examiner president and editor Randolph Hearst, was hauled screaming from her Berkeley apartment on Feb. 4.

In several taped communiques, "Cinque" boasted that the SLA was holding her, and demanded that $3 million worth of food be provided the poor as a "good faith" gesture leading to negotiations for her release.

Hearst complied by arranging the "People in Need" program, in which thousands of persons received sacks of groceries in February and March—but to no avail.

Patty remained in SLA custody. Several times she reassured her parents on the tapes that she was well, and urged them to go along with the SLA in order to gain her freedom.

But in a sudden switch on April 3, she said on the latest

—See Back Page, Col. 1

Examiner reporter seized at PUC meet

Examiner reporter R. L. Revenaugh was arrested today as he attempted to attend the weekly closed "decision conference" of the State Public Utilities Commission here.

Revenaugh, who refused to leave the session when asked, was lifted from his seat in the conference room by two state policemen and marched out the door.

He sat quietly until acting chairman William Symons Jr., and commissioners J.P.

PICTURE, PAGE 2

charge of disturbing a lawful meeting. Bail was set at $250.

Attempting to test the legality of a PUC regulation that closes "decision conferences" to the public, Revenaugh arrived early, accompanied by Attorney James Chery.

When Symons asked him to leave, Revenaugh refused. State police were summoned, and they too asked him to leave. Again he refused.

"We didn't want to arrest him," State Police Captain Virgil R. Moslander said, adding that officers had no choice when Revenaugh kept his seat.

Vukasian Jr., Thomas Moran and David W. Holmes arrived. Chairman Vernon Sturgeon was absent.

The PUC is the state agency which, among other things, regulates rates of Pacific Telephone Co. and Pacific Gas & Electric Co.

The State Penal Code, 403, describes Revenaugh's misdemeanor as follows:

"(Disturbance of assembly or meeting other than religious or political.) Every person who, without authority of law, willfully disturbs or breaks up any assembly or meeting, not unlawful in its character . . . is guilty of a misdemeanor."

INSIDE

• Someone cared

Twenty thousand families would have suffered through Easter, penniless and bitter, if Mrs. Morris Tawill hadn't cared. Guy Wright tells the story on Page 31.

• Wait'll this year

The S.F. 49ers played the toughest schedule in the NFL last year and it looks like they're in for an encore this season. Turn to Sports.

Bridge	32	Obituaries	24
Business	50-54	Scene	21-24
City Printing	34	Shipping	50
Comics	32-33	Sports	45-50
Crossword Puzzle	23	Theaters	25-27
Death Notices	34	TV-Radio	19
Editorial	30	Vital Statistics	17
Horoscope	32	Want Ads	34-43
Movies	25-27	Weather	19

• Weather: Fair, clouds

2 p.m. Forecast: Mostly fair through Thursday but fog or low clouds along coast. Little temperature change. West winds 10-20 mph in afternoons. Full report, Page 19.

She Won't Run Away, Will Wed Second FBI Agent

By TOM BOONE
News Staff Writer
The girl who behind her now, as is the depression that occasionally threatened to drag her down. Both finally were turned, and with her husband, but sometime afterward.

At NOON this Saturday, Mrs. Spinelli will be married to John McElhatton at Our Lady Catholic Church. McElhatton is also an FBI agent.

McElhatton is 29 and has been an FBI agent for about three years, Mrs. Spinelli said. He moved to Charlotte nearly two years ago, about the same time the Spinellis arrived.

She is a friend," she said. "A friend of Greg's and a friend of mine. It's a real close office, and we all went out together often."

For the past year, she said, she has devoted her time to her two children, Melissa, 4, and Greg Jr., who just turned a year old.

Spinelli was going to question the motel desk clerk and show him some pictures. That was all.

MRS. SPINELLI

call Quest
372-3333
THE ACTION LINE
Call Quest solves problems, gets answers, cuts red tape and provides a voice for the public. Dial 372-3333 to write Quest, Box 368, Charlotte, where you need information or action or want to sound off.

Patricia Hearst Identified As California Bank Robber

The FBI says Girl In Center of Photo, Made During Bank Holdup, Resembles Patricia Hearst (AP Wirephoto)

FBI Issues Warrant For Her As Witness

By ROBERT L. ROSE
Los Angeles Daily News Service
SAN FRANCISCO — Newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst, missing and feared dead suddenly turned up alive in a black and white version of Bonnie and Clyde, holding a submachinegun in a $100,000 bank robbery. The FBI promptly put her on its wanted list.

Shocked authorities said they didn't know what to make of it. Miss Hearst was kidnaped Feb. 4 — 10 weeks ago — by the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army.

But HE said automatic pictures taken of the robbery by the Hearst Bank showed that while a woman identified as Miss Hearst was holding a submachinegun during the robbery, somebody else, an SLA member, was holding a gun on her.

"It's clear from the photographs she may have been acting under duress," Browning said. "But if she was involved, and an investigation shows that, we're going to charge her as a bank robber."

The FBI put a federal warrant for her arrest, as a material witness.

"This warrant has no criminal charge behind it," Browning explained. "The judge just grants us the authority to go out and arrest her and bring her in to see whether she will talk and what she will say."

But Browning indicated officials didn't have an idea in the world of where to serve the arrest warrant. Local FBI Chief Charles Bates was silent.

The girl's father, Randolph A. Hearst, editor and president of the San Francisco Examiner, and her mother, Catherine, were scheduled to head back to their suburban home today after a week in Mexico, where they had tried to get away from the ordeal.

The FBI said three other women were with Patricia and a black man, apparently the leader, who hoisted into the bank waving guns. They forced a score of bank employees and half a dozen customers to lie on the floor, and two of the women efficiently scooped up the money from cashiers' cages.

The stubby bearded man, who wore a black and floppy hat, was identified as a Symbionese Liberation Army member. He was seen in the letter she said: "As a member of the Symbionese Liberation Army, I fight against our common oppressor."

Q. We purchased a laminating machine from a Chicago company in April of last year and this machine has been inoperative off and on for six months. Now the company which financed it is threatening to sue us. We're 90 days late in our payments because of the machine's malfunctioning. Can they sue us? — J. M. C.

A. Yes, they can, says a spokesman for the Business and Consumer Protection Division of the North Carolina Attorney General's office in Raleigh, and she advises that you bring the payments up to date. The finance company has already paid the manufacturer for the machine, and it can only recover its money from you; it is not directly concerned with the condition of the machine. Your only recourse is to have the manufacturer put the machine in working order. In this case you tell us you have sent the machine back to Chicago while it's still under warranty. Let's hope the company honors its warranty.

Q. I would like to find out where I can find some rice seed to plant. I tried to find it at several seed stores in North Carolina and haven't been able to find any. Can Quest give me an address? — Mrs. M. J.

A. The agriculture departments of North Carolina and South Carolina couldn't give us a place in either state, although rice is an important crop in the lowlands of both states. So we had to look farther south. We finally got a long list of names from the Louisiana Department of Agriculture. And we're sending you the name of a company in Stuttgart, Ark., that will sell you rice in the quantity you desire, although they usually sell it only by the bushel. Incidentally, rice is the principal food of a vast area and the people of the world. In the crowded countries of the Far East, this grain is more important than wheat and potatoes, even in North America. Asia is still the leading producer, but some is grown in southern Europe, in Africa and in every country of the Western Hemisphere except Canada. In the United States the leading rice-producing states are Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas and California. Rice is also a recommended crop in the Piedmont Carolinas, but you say your father grew it, so perhaps you can too.

Q. I know someone who is very good in tennis. Would it be possible for a local person to play in the tennis tournament here this week? — Tennis Fan.

A. Yes it would, but by invitation only, says a spokesman at the Old Providence Racquet and Swim Club, host to the tournament, and the list is already closed for this year. The big names in the tournament are the touring pros of World Championship Tennis. However, if local tennis players with outstanding records were invited to compete for four spots in the tournament, and elimination play is now going on among this group. Perhaps if your acquaintance makes an outstanding record in local tennis circles this year, he may be invited to compete in the tournament next year.

Q. My daughter is in the 11th grade in the Charlotte-Mecklenburg School System, she has had almost everything that is offered to her and faces little challenge for the rest of her high school days. Can she enter college now instead of waiting? — D.B.

A. Check with Queens College's admissions office about that school's Accelerated Admissions Program for exceptional high school juniors. Students who wish to enter the college without a high school diploma must meet the school's requirements for admission, says a public relations spokesman. They must be recommended to the accelerated program by their parents and a school counselor and they must go for a period.

Feedback
IN SATURDAY'S Quest, you answered a question from R.H. in Polkton about a deduction on income tax for a retarded child. On the North Carolina income tax form, personal exemption No. 5 now allows a $2,000 exemption for a dependent with an IQ under 70. Your answer pertained only to the federal return and I think you might want to qualify the answer. — Mrs. E.W. I state revenue department spokesman in Charlotte contends that this figure is correct. The claim requires a supporting statement from a psychiatrist or other physician as to the child's condition. And a state return already sent in is changed by adding in a new return with the word "amended" along the top.

What's Inside
Bridge 6C
Business 3B
Classified 412B
Comics 3C
Editorials 10A
Emer's Wister 5C
Facts 82A
Lifestyles 11A
Names & Faces 11A
Quintaries 11A
Sports 14C
Theaters 11A
TV Programs 5C

Kindergarten Placement Plan Examined in Court Hearing

By BROOKS MCGIRT
News Staff Writer
Placement of public kindergarten classes under scrutiny today as hearings opened in U. S. District Court here on the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Board of Education's proposed pupil assignment plan for next year.

School official Mrs. Elizabeth Randolph was the first witness called to the stand by board attorney William W. Sturges this morning to present the board's arguments concerning location of kindergarten classes proposed in the ## Chances 50-50 In Impeachment?

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Vice president Gerald R. Ford says the odds are probably 50-50 that the House Judiciary Committee will recommend impeachment of President Nixon.

desegregation plan before Federal Judge James B. McMillan.

But Ford says he believes the full House will defeat an impeachment resolution if one is adopted by the committee when Congress returns from its Easter recess.

Under questioning by Sturges, Mrs. Randolph, who is an administrative assistant for school operations working with 26 principals and who has contractual responsibility for administration of the kindergarten program, testified on the state's federally-funded kindergarten classes during the past few years.

Sturges told the court the purpose of her testimony was to "bring before the court the historical facts" of kindergarten placement based on the federal guidelines since she choice is still based "in large part" on the requirements of the guidelines.

The first day of public hearings, expected to last two or three days, began this morning before a handful of spectators in the federal courtroom on the second floor of the Post Office Building.

He contended there is no evidence now that Nixon is guilty of any impeachable offense, "and I don't think there will be any evidence to change that verdict."

Ford offered his assessment during a news conference yesterday in Palm Springs, Calif., where he dedicated a senior citizen center and addressed an imitations-only dinner of prominence and professional men, mostly Republicans.

MEANWHILE, in Washington, the House Judiciary Committee awaits the resumption of its impeachment inquiry next week with its Democratic majority and Republican minority more united than ever, thanks largely to the White House.

Besides Mrs. Randolph, other school system officials in the courtroom included Edward Sanders, associate superintendent for administrative services, Dr. Wayne C. Church, director of research for the system, and O. N. Freeman, administrative assistant for the department of personnel.

School Board member Dr. Carlton G. Watkins was also called in the spectators' section of the courtroom.

As the hearings began this morning, Judge James B. McMillan said, "I feel about I go to church, I keep expecting miraculous answers. I don't ever get them, but sometimes I get an inspiration on inspiration that helps."

Surges asked Mrs. Randolph about the reasons behind selection of certain sites for kindergarten classes.

Executive Editor's Note:

A Pain In His Chest . . .

Dear Readers:
Your husband awakens in the middle of the night, gasping for breath, complaining of a chest pain. You call the doctor, who tells you to give him some Rolaids.

A few days later your husband is dead — and the death certificate lists the cause as coronary thrombosis.

What are your thoughts?
Tomorrow in the Wednesday Report you'll need a woman we'll call Janet Blake and she'll tell the story of how she allowed herself to be put off by doctors because "I didn't want to be a bother. . . I always assumed I had nothing to be concerned about because the doctors didn't seem concerned."

Unusual.
That's how the judges for this year's Charlotte News Cookbook describe the recipes. A recipe for mushroom chowder was the year's best, and it's the first time in 18 years a soup has captured the top prize.

The annual cookbook — in today's Charlotte News.

The woman who's now a Heart Fund volunteer, will tell wives danger signals that could indicate heart trouble and urge them "insist that something be done. Don't assume that the doctor or the hospital automatically will recognize the gravity of the condition."

Tomorrow in the Wednesday Report: A Chest Pain . . . And Then Death. Join us, won't you?
—DARRELL SIFFORD

It's Golf For Ford

Vice President Gerald Ford will be in Charlotte for a Republican fund raising dinner May 1—and he'll be back again near the end of the month to play a little golf.

The vice president announced today he will play in the May 25 Kemper Pro-Am, which precedes the $250,000 Kemper Open International Golf Tournament in Charlotte.

As U.S. House minority leader, Ford played in the just three Kemper Pro-Am's. The Kemper Open is now in its seventh year and will run from May 27 to June 2 at Quail Hollow Country Club.

On May 1, Ford will attend a reception and dinner at the Civic Center for 9th District Republican Congressional James G. Martin.

Another factor in the current

Here's That Cookbook

O God, give us the courage to respond to the challenges all around us. It's a noble thing. That's just not our job as stewards. We keep in meeting human need. Amen.

Evening Prayer