ing and annual payments to reduce the debt.

Representative Hale Boggs (D-La.), said "We can demagogue as much as we want on this issue, but it is not going to make it go away.

"There is only one issue here," declared Representative Abraham J. Multer (D.-N.Y.). "That is whether the Government can pay its bills."

Ike Praises Senators Who Voted for Strauss

WASHINGTON, June 20 (UPI)—Senator Anderson (D.-N.M.) said today President Eisenhower "knew he would have trouble" when he nominated Lewis L. Strauss to be commerce secretary.

"Strauss was controversial," said Anderson, leader of the Senate bloc that defeated efforts at confirmation of the appointment.

To President Eisenhower's bitter accusation that the Senate had written a "sad episode" in U. S. history by rejecting Strauss, Anderson replied that the President "can easily secure Senate confirmation for nominees who inspire confidence."

Eisenhower last night took the unusual step of sending hand-delivered notes to the 46 senators in both parties who voted in favor of confirmation of Strauss. Forty-nine senators voted against Strauss.

The President's letter was delivered by White House messenger. It said, "I cannot fail to recognize the courage, wisdom and spirit of fairness you demonstrated in the vote on the confirmation of Lewis Strauss. I am grateful. With warm regards, sincerely Dwight D. Eisenhower."

Vice-President Nixon charged that Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson "cracked the whip" that defeated Strauss.

Nixon also told newspapermen in Chicago, where he stopped en-route to Denver, that Senate Democrats had used their top-heavy power to kick Eisenhower "in the teeth." He called the Senate action "arbitrary and vindictive."

A question arose over whether Strauss still was secretary of commerce despite the Senate vote. A Commerce Department spokesman said Strauss was, and that he would continue in his cabinet post until he resigns, probably by the end of next week.

But Senate parliamentarians contended he was out as soon as the White House was notified of the Senate's negative vote.

Fairhavenite Named To City School Post

Nixon and Kennedy rode the same plane from Washington. During their conversation, Nixon commented that Kennedy seems to be the front-runner for the Democratic presidential nomination next year. Kennedy smiled and said to Nixon—who is in the same position on the Republican side—that he was "glad to return the compliment."

stamped on the barrel, was manufactured in September 1958.

"Because of the manner in which this rifle was discarded and the good condition it was in when recovered, the New Bedford police feel quite sure this was the weapon used in the shooting of 'the two men,'" Captain Cawley stated.

The captain also asks the help of the public in identifying the weapon. "If any person has information regarding the absence of such a described weapon from its usual place or custody since the time of the shooting, please notify the Detective Division at New Bedford police headquarters," he requested.

All communications regarding this matter will be treated with the utmost secrecy, Captain Cawley added.

Byrnes Defends Critics of Court

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 20 (UPI)—Former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes says the public is being "brainwashed" into believing the U. S. Supreme Court is always right.

Byrnes, a former governor of South Carolina, said it is absurd that critics of the high court's 1954 school desegregation decision often were called unpatriotic.

"The people of the United States have the right to express their opinion of the court's decisions," he told the 74th annual convention of the Georgia Bar Association.

DEATHS

Miss Olida Lajoie

Miss Olida Lajoie, also known as Ida Lajoie, 50, of 164 Harwich Street, died yesterday at her home after a long illness. A native of Fall River, she had lived in New Bedford 48 years.

Miss Lajoie was employed as a clerk in a New Bedford drugstore until her illness. She was a communicant of St. Joseph Church and a member of the Children of Mary of that parish.

Survivors include five sisters, Mrs. Dora Metras, Mrs. Eva Sanctier and Mrs. Rose Brodeur, all of New Bedford; Mrs. Bertha LaRochelle and Mrs. Noella Nicker, son, both of Wareham, and several nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Maria T. Amaro

The funeral of Mrs. Maria T. Amaro, 61, of 51 East Briggs Street, Westport, will be held Monday in Fall River. Mrs. Amaro, widow of Jose T. Amaro, died Thursday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mary Vasconcellos of the Westport address, following a long illness.

Born in St. Michael, Azores, she came to this country 45 years ago and had resided in Fall River most of the time.

Miss Jane McDermott

Special to The Standard-Times

FALL RIVER, June 20 — Miss Jane McDermott, 90, of 615 Middle Street, died unexpectedly yesterday in a local hospital. Born in Rautenstall, England, she had made her home in Fall River for the last 36 years and was a communicant of St. Louis Church.

Survivors include a niece, Sister Mary Georgina, R.S.M., of St. Joseph Convent, New Bedford.

Mrs. Manuel Martin

Special to The Standard-Times

FALL RIVER, June 20 — Mrs. Theresa (Rebello) Martin, wife of Manuel L. Martin of 150 Clay Street, died unexpectedly yesterday in a local hospital. The funeral will be held Tuesday with a Solemn High Requiem Mass to be sung at 9:30 a. m. in St. Elizabeth Church.

Survivors, in addition to her husband, include a daughter, Mrs. Alice Costa of Westport.

'Big 4' Recess Geneva Talks

failure here makes a meeting at the summit even more necessary.

Reviewing the six week of negotiations here, Western authorities insisted that Herter, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville had given away nothing of substance to the Russians.

But they did not want to remain here any longer and watch the Russians try to whittle down the Western position on Berlin without offering any concessions of their own.

The Western decision to break off the negotiations was made firm yesterday after Gromyko had introduced new proposals for a Berlin settlement. Herter, Lloyd and Couve de Murville decided that despite some revised language, the Soviet proposal was just as unacceptable as the earlier one.

In offering the West an extra six months to get out of Berlin, Gromyko ignored the final Western compromise plan offered earlier this week.

A final formal session of the conference was held this morning. The five-minute meeting confirmed the three week recess agreed on earlier in a secret talk at Gromyko's villa.

A brief, final communique merely spoke of a "broad exchange of views" among the ministers and said they believe "further discussion and negotiations are necessary" when the conference resumes July 13.

Berlin Assembly Set

Western officials now foresee a new period of mounting tension, especially since West Germany has decided to hold an assembly there with a new president in West Berlin July 1.

The Communists have assailed the Berlin meeting as a provocative act in the city 110 miles inside East Germany.

Soviet informants said they expect major East-West issues to be discussed in Washington early next month by Soviet Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov and U. S. officials.

One Soviet diplomat said Kozlov will take a message from Khrushchev to Eisenhower when he leaves Moscow to open the Soviet exhibition in New York.

Later in the month, Vice-President Nixon will be going to Moscow to open the American exhibition there. Presumably he will meet with Khrushchev.

The period between now and July 13 also is expected to be a busy one for Western diplomacy, as with exchanges among Eisenhower, Macmillan and French President Charles de Gaulle, as well as with Khrushchev.

U. S. officials said the Geneva suspension would not necessarily be followed by new Communist moves in Germany, such as pressure on the road, rail and air lifelines to Berlin. But they admitted frankly they were not sure what may happen.

WARSAW, Poland, June 20 (UPI)—U. S. Ambassador Jacob Beam and Communist Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-nan met for nearly two hours yesterday on the Formosa Strait question. The meeting was their 17th since last Autumn on the question, and as usual no details were made public. The ambassadors agreed to meet again on July 28.

Navy Unit Of Thailand Tours City

Sailors of the Thailand Navy today received a first-hand look at whaling and whaling ships as they visited the Whaling Museum and later toured the city briefly.

The young sailors and officers arriving in three buses from the U. S. Naval Air Training Base at Newport, R. I., found the model whaling ship displayed at the museum the main attraction.

They posed for pictures standing in the rigging and bridge and made complete tours of the ship and museum.

The visit here was part of a six-week training course at Newport under supervision of the Navy. They are expected to leave for New York June 27 for assignment to a former U. S. Navy destroyer escort.

The ship has been turned over to the Thailand Government, a member of the South East Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) and renamed the HTMS Pin Klor, honoring the fourth king to the country. It is now in Brooklyn.

Queen Visits U.S. Air Base

1,000 hands at a reception and trudged for nearly an hour through the noisy heat of the great Bowater Paper Mill.

The royal party drove through the beautiful northern forests past little settlements that were hardly more than clearings in the woods.

But each little cluster of homes and stores was decked out with flags and pennants.

Loggers and their families waited for hours beside the dusty road to catch a glimpse of the royal car as it came from Dery Lake along the 35-mile route to Corner Brook, a community of 25,000 persons.

Philip has been stopping to talk to everyone, shaking hands, smiling and asking questions.

At Gander terminal, the queen pressed an electric button releasing the cover of the sign "Gander" above the building officially dedicating the $5,000,000 structure through which thousands of Americans flying to Europe travel each year.

Another long line of men and women waited to meet the couple after they had inspected a new mural in the waiting room. Some curtseys looked hazardous and others were mere bobs.

Said one woman afterward, "I caught my heel in my nylon and nearly fell."

At the Gander ceremony, Elizabeth met another Queen. She was Tina Carey, 16, of Tilt Cove, Nfld., who has been chosen Copper Queen.

Sir Eric Bowater, chairman of the board of the major British pulp and papermaking industry, escorted Elizabeth through the mill.

The royal party spent the night at Strawberry Hill on the bend of the Humber River.

A four-engine plane waited to take them on a 600-mile flight to Lake Labrador and the iron mine at Schefferville.

The party was scheduled to return to Seven Islands, Quebec, tonight.

6 New York Youths Held In Rape Case

NEW YORK, June 20 (UP) — Six Negro youths, aged 14 to 17, have been arrested in the Corona, Queens, schoolyard rape of a 14-year-old white girl. She was attacked three times.

The victim was assaulted Thursday night after attending a recreation program at the school. Her name was withheld by police.

The girl identified as her assailants John Rich, 16, Edward Jacobs, 17, and Jacob Bethea and Henry Stokes, both 16. They were charged with rape.

All four will be arraigned in Ridgewood Felony Court.

Arraigned yesterday and charged with juvenile delinquency were a 14-year-old and 15-year-old boy. Their names were not made public.

Steel Talks In New York Recessed

NEW YORK, June 20 (UP) — Industrywide steel wage talks recessed yesterday until Monday, with no progress reported in efforts to avert a strike threatened for July 1.

On Wednesday and Thursday, individual sessions were held between the union and representatives of the 12 companies. Yesterday, both sides refused to the previous pattern of having four-man teams negotiate on the overall basis.

A walkout of 500,000 United Steel Workers would halt about 80 percent of the nation's steel production.

The union seeks an unspecified wage increase. Present base pay in steel is $2.03 an hour.

Coyle Body Is Claimed

asked authorities here about claiming the body.

It was reported the woman holds two $500 insurance policies on the brothers.

Mrs. Higgins and her daughter wish to give William a burial beside his parents in Philadelphia's Holy Sepulcher Cemetery. But authorities say that "a friend," as Mrs. Higgins is designated, could not claim the body unless John, who is awaiting trial in that city on charges of slaying a policeman, gives them permission.

The mother and daughter plan to appeal to John in his cell in Moyamensing Prison.

"We will try to talk to John and see what his wishes are," Mrs. Graner said.

Agrees on Lawyer

John, accused with his slain brother of murdering Patrolman James F. Kane, who surprised them stealing milk near their North Philadelphia hideout June 5, led detectives to a plateau overlooking the Schuylkill River yesterday. He showed them where they buried bullet casings. Five shots were fired at Kane. The casings, however, were not found.

Later he agreed to let a woman attorney hired by Mrs. Higgins represent him at his murder trial for the slaying of the policeman. Coyle earlier had refused to allow State Representative Mary Alice Duffy to be his lawyer.

Miss Duffy said she finally was able to talk to Coyle in prison last night and he accepted her as his attorney during a 20-minute conversation.

Miss Duffy has tried to see Coyle several times since his return from Massachusetts Thursday and she twice filed writs of habeas corpus, charging he was held incommunicado by police. She objected vigorously to police staging a re-enactment of the crime on a North Philadelphia street before a crowd of 2,000 persons without her consent.

Tells of 'Runaround'

Miss Duffy had complained she was given an "outrageous runaround" when she tried to see Coyle.

She said when she went to visit Coyle in City Hall, she was told no one was permitted to see him without the consent of the district attorney's office.

District Attorney Victor H Blanc, who said he would "press for the electric chair" for Coyle, said he had informed police the attorney should have been consulted before the re-enactment of the crime was filmed.

Meanwhile, Boston police said a car and two rifles which the Coyles abandoned in Portland, Me., were brought to Boston police headquarters yesterday.

The auto, registered to William, was found in a parking lot by an attendant. It was left there after the Bourne supermarket holdup in which two men were wounded June 8.

Police said William bought the car—a 1953 Ford station wagon—while he was stationed in the Air Force at Otis Air Force Base, Falmouth.

'New' Ruin Is Unearthed At Rome

ROME, June 20 (UPI) — Ruins of a huge amphitheater, second in size only to the Coloseum, have been discovered in Rome.

Art Superintendent Giulio Jacopi said yesterday the site of the discovery is near the Basilica of Santa Croce (Holy Cross), an ancient Roman structure where it is said Helene, the mother of Emperor Constantine, gathered relics of the Passion of Christ.

The digging thus far indicates the amphitheater is about 500 yards long and 120 yards wide. The Colosseum in downtown Rome is 200 yards across at its widest part.

The discovery, as in many other archaeological cases, was accidental. The bottom of the amphitheater came to light as a result of extensive digging for a new subway.

Louisiana Rule Is Undecided

Squabble Likely For Governorship

BATON ROUGE, June 20 (UP) — Louisiana officials were at loggerheads today as to who was the State's chief executive as Governor Earl Long indicated he may be plotting another court battle to free himself from court-ordered treatment in a mental hospital.

Lieutenant-Governor Lether E. Frazar, a friend of the 63-year-old ailing governor, said he wants legal advice before formally taking over as acting governor. Secretary of State Wade Martin, a political enemy of Long, said he would continue to recognize Long as governor. He challenged Frazar's right to take over without formal certification of Long's inability to act.

"Governor Long has been irresponsible for some time but there has been no legal declaration of that," Martin said.

Long called for legal counsel from his lonely ward at the Southeast Louisiana Hospital at Jackson, La., 54 miles east of his capital city where he and his brother, the late Huey P. Long, began thriving on peppery politics in the 1920s.

State Police and sheriff's deputies overpowered the cursing, fighting governor Thursday night and rushed him to Mandeville. A physician and a psychiatrist said he suffered from paranoid schizophrenia—delusions of persecution.

Long had just skipped out on a agreement for voluntary treatment in New Orleans. The agreement had nullified a Texas court fight by effecting his Wednesday release from a Galveston psychiatric clinic. He had been held in the clinic 19 days by court order.

which followed the invasion was "also thrust upon its people and Government by the threat of arms." Under the agreement, Tibet became an "autonomous" region of Red China.

". . . The consent of the Government was secured under duress, and at the point of the bayonet my representatives were compelled to sign the agreement. Even the Tibetan seal which was affixed to the agreement was not the seal of my representatives, but a seal copied and fabricated by the Chinese authorities in Peking and kept in their possession ever since."

To Avert Destruction

The Dalai Lama said that he and his Government bowed to the reds "in order to save the people and the country from the danger of total destruction."

The Dalai Lama said he was pleased that India, his host country, had championed Tibet's cause, as it did that of Algeria, Morocco and Tunisia.

He said he would welcome a summit meeting between Nehru and Chou "if the actual events in Tibet were considered in their true perspective."

The Dalai Lama added he would also welcome "the support of all countries of the world, including Soviet Russia," for the Tibetan cause.

The Dalai Lama read his statement in Tibetan. It was translated into English and copies were distributed to newspapermen.

Pledges Firmness

Stating that the present Tibetan regime was "nothing but a deceptive Government with all powers in the hands of the Chinese," the Dalai Lama declared "we people of Tibet will never recognize it."

He pledged he would return to his capital city of Lhasa only when he obtains "the rights and powers which Tibet enjoyed and exercised prior to 1950."

The Dalai Lama said the puppet Panchen Lama, installed by the Chinese as token head of Tibet, has been under Chinese influence since his boyhood.

"He has no alternative except to carry out the orders of the Chinese, because he has no powers," the Dalai Lama said.

The Tibetan lauded the Peiping Government for trying to achieve the "final extermination" of the Buddhist religion and culture in Tibet by planning to settle 5,000,000 Chinese in the Himalayan country.
