

Our Real Gold Mine.
Miles of Corn.
Better Pictures.
No Fighting, Perhaps.
A New Monroe Doctrine.

By Arthur Brisbane

OMAHA (Neb.), Aug. 4.—This is written on the Chicago & North-western train No. 9, traveling through Iowa and Nebraska from Chicago to Omaha. Gold mines, copper mines and diamond mines are beautiful, but they become exhausted.

This train is rushing through a mine of wealth that will never be exhausted, increasing in value and productive power as the mines of agriculture develop.

Miles and miles of green cornfields on either side of the track, billions of yellow tassels swelling in the summer breeze. Here and there smaller farms where wheat falls behind, men are separating wheat from the straw, blowing the straw in great piles, for which the farmer has little use.

The modern wheat grower uses a huge "combine" that goes through the standing wheat, cutting, threshing, delivering grain in bags to trucks that accompany the "combine."

This important part of America produces our real wealth, THE CEREAL. Farmers get little for it, prices are low, and what little is left above cost of production goes to banks for mortgage interest, to railroad freight charges to middlemen profits. But that will not be so always.

M. C. Johnston, conductor of No. 9, says: "This is the finest country in the world, you can't help being healthy out here. Isn't it a pleasure to look at that corn? Of course will, but sometimes just that doesn't last, and what difference does it make? It's only food, you are not hauled in humility as you are back East."

He adds confidentially that the Chicago & Northwestern is the best railroad in the world.

Iowa is cheerful today for two reasons. George Selig, Iowa University student, yesterday won the 110-meter hurdle in 16.4 seconds, tying the old Olympic record. They before yesterday he broke that record.

Also the National Editorial Association in San Francisco declared the Iowa, Storm Lake, Pilot-Tribune "best weekly newspaper in the United States." W. C. Jamagin is publisher of the Pilot-Tribune.

Some of our "big men," including important advertisers, fail to appreciate the importance of weekly newspapers. Their influence on public opinion exceeds that of all other publications in the country.

Paraguay and Bolivia, may after all, not enjoy their "real war." Young gentlemen of Paraguay and Bolivia are "rushing to the colors" to fight somebody. In Paraguay young men, including debaters and society ladies, insist on joining the army. They won't quit or go home, but insist on fighting in the front line trenches, and there are no trenches, they will die. But the South American ladies and gentlemen may miss the "measure" of finding out what a real war is like.

The United States has joined with South American countries in declaring that it will not recognize territorial gains made by armed force.

This means a sort of Monroe Doctrine among countries in South America. It would hardly be worth while to fight for land if you couldn't enjoy it after you got it. Europe should have had this "non-recognition" agreement in 1914. It would have prevented the silly program of carving out and setting up the impromptu nation of Paraguay, which one of our distinguished Presidents was largely responsible.

There is a little "light in the darkness" for farmers along in the other railroads. Many farm products have recently increased in price, corn, 2 cents a bushel; oats, 3 cents; barley, 4 cents; wheat, 5 cents; hay, $1.50 a ton; potatoes, 5 cents a bushel; sweet potatoes, 15 cents; apples, 25 cents; and hogs, which are most important, $1.70 a hundredweight.

Increases, also in beef, veal, lamb, sheep, chickens, eggs, butter, but, wool, milk, corn, flour, sugar, eggs, horses, $5 per head; mules, $2 per head.

Republcan office seekers every night should add to their "pay me" a prayer for continuing and increasing farm prices.

In Des Moines three men are accused of torturing a 10-year-old child. "Just for fun." One confessed. The child was stripped, his clothing, water poured over him, burning matches applied to his body. The burns were not serious and the boy will recover. But no punishment could atone for such a crime, or for the mental agony inflicted upon the boy's mother.

Des Moines justice can be relied upon to impress that fact upon those guilty of what they call "a little prank." The right punishment would be to send them to prison, and arrangements that would make it impossible for the boys to enjoy the cow, pig or even to perpetrate their kind and hand on to another generation their idea of "amusement."

Eastman and Carr Will Race Today; Javelin Mark Set

Spear Tossed by Finn

Babe Didrikson Takes Second Title in Olympic Meet

Outstanding Olympic Games events of yesterday

The world record holder in the javelin, Matti Järvinen of Finland, hurled the spear 238 feet, 7 inches, a new Olympic mark. The record, set this year by Järvinen, is 248 feet, 10 inches. The Olympic javelin was 216 feet, 6 inches. Bill Carr and Ben Eastman, American 100-meter runners, led the qualifying parade in their specialty, the former turning in 48.8 seconds and Eastman 49 flat for their first round.

The world record in the hop, step and jump was surpassed when two Chukchi Natives of Japan cleared 51 feet, 7 inches. Babe Didrikson captured her second Olympic championship with a world record performance, when she won the 80-meter hurdle final in 11.7 seconds.

The Italian ace, Luigi Beccali, rushed to victory in the men's 1,500-meter final in the Olympic record time of 3:13.1.

By Damon Runyon
The Italian ace, Luigi Beccali, a swarthy, thin, mean-looking son of old Italy, with a mop of coal black hair flapping about his dark eyes, is the winner of the 1,500-meter run in the world Olympics this afternoon. He is the oldest of the modern games.

Powerful muscles rip Beccali's legs, muscles that dash him on from a distant fourth in the last stages of the race to a sensational victory, with 40,000 spectators cheering him.

He hangs up a new Olympic record—3 minutes, 31.3 seconds for the distance, which is 140 yards less than a mile. Behind him, in second place, strides John Frederick Coates, the Englishman, and on behind Coates is Phil Edwards, the lanky negro from Louisiana.

LARVA FAILS TO PLACE
Edwards' strength fails him in the last fifty yards as the skinny Italian comes on like the wind. The negro struggles valiantly, and it looks as if he must at least finish second, but Coates jumps ahead in the last ten or thirty strides, leaving the staggering Edwards in the American, Glen Cunningham, taking fourth, and on back behind Cunningham are the pick of the millers of the world, among them Harri Larva of Finland, Olympic champion in 1928.

It is almost a shock to the experts that Larva, with his record of 3 minutes, 33.5 made in 1928, fails to place.

Norwood Penrose Holloway of Harvard, hero of the East in the race, fails to know enough about the turn of the second lap, and though he makes a game struggle there, after he apparently loses enough strength in this misstep to hurt any chance he may have of winning. He finishes sixth.

FINN IS BOXED IN
On one hour much of Beccali before the race. Indeed, he is a complete surprise, but the way he comes on from hand behind establishes him as a superior runner. He waves his hand jauntily at the crowd as he is going across the green infield toward the dressing rooms after the finish. He continues waving for some time afterwards when the photographers get on him.

LIBBY and Walker Indicted For Murder; Star's Father Refuses to Surrender Her

Accused

Frameup Charged by Holman; Leaves for Winston-Salem

YOUTH JAILED

Gun Vainly Sought 3 Times, Witnesses Inform Jury

CINCINNATI (O.), Aug. 4.—(AP)—Albert Holman, father of Libby Holman, left for Winston-Salem tonight to seek bond to save her from confinement in jail while awaiting trial under an indictment returned there today charging her and Ab Walker with the murder of her husband, Smith Reynolds, heir to tobacco millions.

The Cincinnati lawyer and former broker revealed his daughter is in seclusion, confined to her bed under the care of a physician and a nurse.

He refused, however, to say where she was staying. Calmly pushing on a pipe as he set in the train bearing him "West," he declared his daughter is innocent of the indictment.

Reynolds died of a bullet wound in the head July 5 after a prolonged party at the Reynolds estate, Libby and Walker, his life-long friend, have insisted his death was suicide impelled by dependency.

"If I had any thought whatsoever," Holman said, "that she had anything to do with the slaying of this boy, I would, with my eyes, be the first to ask that she be punished."

His daughter, he said, is not in Delaware, as had been rumored earlier, is not in New York or California, but he only laughed when asked directly if she was still in Ohio.

"I'd rather not answer that," he said.

Once more he severely criticized officials of Forsythe county, N. C., asserting they were seeking to make "political capital" of the case; once more he asserted the physical facts established that Reynolds died by his own hand; and he declared impartial consideration of the evidence could result only in substantiating the innocence of the former Broadway star.

REPORTERS DEFIED
Reports of impending motherhood concerning Miss Holman, he said, are "a matter of record."

Earlier today he had defied authorities to find her.

"I will say this," he said, "I have sent a wire to officials at Winston-Salem telling them I am not here at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and tell them they need not waste any money looking for Mrs. Reynolds."

Holman previously disputed the contention of Hamilton county officials that a telegraphed request for Libby's arrest constituted a warrant.

He maintained that attitude even after the request was confirmed by telephone and three upon the door of another daughter's home to invite Special Investigator Joe Schaefer to search the dwelling for the former idol of Broadway.

He would surrender his daughter to North Carolina authorities "at the proper time," Holman said, adding, "I will not give out any information on a frameup."

The president of the League Council, Jose Mattor, told Bolivia and assumed both nations favored peaceful settlement of their dispute, and said the way was open.

The 19 American nations were banded in a new policy of western diplomacy, which declares no territory acquired outside arbitration will be recognized as legal.

der in connection with the mysterious death of the tobacco playboy heir, were handed down by a grand jury here today.

Walker was arrested by Sheriff Truescott at his home after the grand jury's action, and immediately was lodged in the county jail. Formal indictments will be drawn up at once, Scott said.

Bench warrants had been issued by Superior Court Judge A. M. Stack for the arrest of Mrs. Reynolds and Walker.

Young Reynolds, who at 21 was heir to the $20,000,000 tobacco fortune left him by his father, was shot to death July 6 after a wild birthday party for a friend at Reynolds, the family estate near here.

Both Libby Holman, exotic star of several Broadway musical comedy hits, and Walker, a youth of Reynolds' own age, contended during the coroner's inquest that Reynolds had shot himself to death.

But the coroner's jury returned a verdict that the youthful playboy had met death "at the hands of a person or persons unknown."

SHERIFF INVESTIGATES.

Sheriff Truescott immediately began an investigation and the grand jury had consideration of the case yesterday.

During the coroner's inquest there were numerous discrepancies between the testimony of Libby Holman and Walker, both of whom were present at the Reynolds residence after the birthday party that ended in tragedy.

The action of the grand jury came with dramatic suddenness today.

Only two witnesses appeared before the jurors—Sheriff Scott and Stewart Warnken, local representative of the Reynolds estate, who was one of the first on the scene of the tragedy. After but six hours spent in deliberation, the grand jury returned a verdict that the death of the playboy was the result of a murder.

3 FUTILE SEARCHES.

Action of the grand jury is said to have revolved about the discrepancies in testimony before the coroner's jury and the mysterious disappearance and reappearance of the pistol which killed young Reynolds. Warnken told of having made three futile searches for the weapon on the Reynolds sleeping porch where the youthful heir was found fatally wounded.

The revolver was found during a fourth search. It was found in a conspicuous position on the porch and Sheriff Scott has steadfastly maintained that the gun must have been placed there after the previous searches.

Sheriff Scott is understood to have told the jurors today that the disappearance and strange reappearance of the weapon is the most important evidence that Reynolds did not shoot himself.

Considerable importance was also attached to the testimony of Warnken, who told of his conversation with Ab Walker immediately after Reynolds was shot.

AN "ASSUMPTION."

Warnken said Walker told him: "The gun is upstairs."

When Walker was questioned by County Solicitor Carlisle Higgins as to how he knew this and what he meant, Walker said it was merely his "assumption."

Warnken brought before the jurors a diagram of the porch where Reynolds' body was found. It showed how the bullet, which passed through the youth's temple followed a downward course after it struck a nearby screen.

The dramatic North Carolina custom of returning a murder indictment was followed by the jury today.

Seventeen grim-faced jurors filed into the courtroom before Judge Stack and stood lined before the bar. The judge then polled the jury. Subsequently, Judge Stack read the indictments aloud and the jury filed out.

It was the opening scene of what may be one of America's most sensational murder trials.

Holman charged the true bills constituted a "frame-up," the result of "trumped-up" testimony.

Brother Will Battle To Avenge Reynolds

By AROXELLAS GALVAO.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 4.—Smith's best pals. I just can't get the idea of what must have happened. I guess I'll have to wait until I get in touch with the family lawyer.

Richard Reynolds is on his way to Winston-Salem, N. C., having been called across the South Atlantic from Africa when he was informed of his brother's death. He added: "I have only meager news of my brother's death. It was a terrible shock. I loved Smith dearly."

Reynolds leaves for New York tomorrow aboard the steamer American Legion.

"Of all the bad dreams! Why, I can't even realize Smith is really dead. He was so happy the last time I saw him."

"Why, Walker was one of those who said: 'I'll insist upon the sternest punishment for the miscreant if I find my brother was the victim of a foul deed.'"

Reynolds was in the bar of the Gloria Hotel with four friends when I showed him cabled word of the true bill returned against Libby Holman and Walker.

He exclaimed: "Well, this just about shocks me."

Secretary of Commerce to Seek Improvement in Commodity, General Prices, He Declares

DETROIT, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Roy D. Chapin, primarily a pessimist, and always an optimist, intends to sell his optimism to America in his new position as Secretary of Commerce.

Chapin returned here from Washington, where he accepted the appointment to the cabinet yesterday.

While giving no details as to his program in the national administration, Chapin made it plain that he will work toward bringing about an improvement in commodity and general prices which will make business profitable.

"There can be little dispute that today there is a general feeling of optimism on the air," he said. "It appears that the depression has run its course, and the upturn has come. There is no doubt that the United States has a large volume of buying power lying unused, held back by public caution. Buyers have been afraid to spend their money. The job is to unleash the buying power."
