NewsWords Safe In Bank's Vault

It's not that The News thinks folks are dishonest. On the contrary. But we are taking no chances. Tuesday the exciting NewsWords puzzle starts in The News and indications are there'll be tremendous response from the Carolinas. Just to be on the safe side, The News is making sure no one can get his hands on the correct answer to NewsWords.

Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. has been asked to be the official keeper-of-the-jackpot. Answers to NewsWords puzzles will be kept in the bank's big vault.

Herman B. McManaway Jr., has agreed to be the official secret-keeper.

NewsWords, the family fun and profit game, starts Tuesday with $200 in the pot for the first week's winner.

Baker-Teamster Hearings Called

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee today called new hearings on charges that the Teamsters and Bakers unions are corruptly dominated.

Al G. Hayes, chairman of the group, set July 31 as the date for hearings on charges against the Teamsters and Bakers, and Aug. 1 to air accusations against the Teamsters.

Quater of the two unions from the federation is the ultimate penalty for corrupt domination but it is believed AFL-CIO leaders are trying to encourage the unions to eliminate leaders questioned in testimony before the Senate Ethics Committee so that unions themselves can remain in the AFL-CIO.

The Senate rackets investigating committee wound up hearings yesterday into activities of Bakers Union President James G. Cross. He refused to take a lie detector test as proposed by union rivals who told

Bankers To Purrr Over City's Kitty

A $7,198,161.40 account is one that any bank would like to carry. Because that was the bank balance of the Charlotte City Government on June 30 a special committee of the City Council is studying the distribution of the money among local financial institutions.

The three man committee — Ernest Ford, Claude L. Alben, and Steve W. Dellinger — met yesterday afternoon with City Treasurer L. L. Ledbetter for a general discussion of the situation.

Another meeting will be held when Mr. Ledbetter has compiled information regarding the assets of each of the city's eight banks. The city's seven-million dollar bank balance is contained in 23 separate funds, which are kept separately and banked separately.

Case Dropped Against Clinton Defendants

Defense Asks Acquittal For Remaining Eleven

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Charges of criminal contempt against four of the defendants in the "Clinton trial," landmark civil rights case, were dismissed today and the defense promptly moved for acquittal of the remaining 11.

The lawyers entered a blanket denial of the government's accusation that the defendants conspired to violate a federal injunction prohibiting interference with the enrollment of Negro students in Clinton High School last year. The four were cleared on the motion of U. S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr.

He said, "In my opinion," the evidence is not sufficient to warrant conviction of these men. Therefore, I move to dismiss the charges against them."

THE FRED

Those freed, all from the Clinton area were:

Chris Foust, 35, school bus driver.

John B. Long, 31, house painter.

Thomas Sanders, 42, utilities firm employe.

J. L. Coley, 43, carpenter.

During defense arguments for acquittal, the jury was sent out of the courtroom.

Ross Barnett, former president of Mississippi bar, opened the defense arguments before U. S. Dist. Judge Robert Taylor.

A separate motion for acquittal was made by J. Benjamin Simmons of Washington, D. C., who represents John Kasper, Northern segregationist leader.

Barnett argued, in attacking the conspiracy charge, that the fact that some of the accused were seen in the back room of a Clinton restaurant with Kasper was no evidence of conspiracy.

CANT SPECULATE

"But no one knows what they said," Barnett said. "We can't speculate when a man's liberty is at stake."

Similarly, he said, membership in the Tennessee White Citizens Council was no evidence of conspiracy. "Every man and woman has the right to belong to a White Citizens Council," Barnett said.

Referring to the riot on Clinton's main street on the night of Friday, Aug. 31, Barnett said, "Yes, there were a thousand or more people there. They were excited. They were nervous. Those things have to be taken into consideration."

"But I say again this is no evidence of conspiracy."

Barnett said people have a right to be opposed to integration of the schools.

"They have a right to talk."

HEIRESS FALLS 28 FLOORS—Death Dive 'Only Way Out'

NEW YORK (AP)—Saying she was taking "the only way out," an attractive 24-year-old Milwaukee heiress plunged to her death yesterday from a 28th-floor Park Ave. penthouse.

Patricia E. Philipp, socialite daughter of a man prominent in Wisconsin Republican circles and granddaughter of a "frenzy" governor of the state, left an unsigned 13-word note.

SHORT NOTE

"Dear Hon — This is the only way out. You are not to blame," read the note. There was no clue to the identity of "Hon."

The body of the brunette, a secretary to John Roosevelt, youngest son of the late President, was found on the seventh-floor terrace roof of an adjoining office building.

Miss Philipp was the daughter of Cyrus Philipp, president of Milwaukee's Union Refrigerator Transit Co., and a former Wisconsin national committeewoman.

Her father, Emanuel, was a former Wisconsin governor. For the past two months, she worked as a secretary at the Allied Public Relations Association.

Vote Rights Only Bill Is Gaining

(Sen. Ervin's statement on the civil rights plan on Page 1A.)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Supporters of the administration's civil rights bill fought today against mounting Senate sentiment to confine the measure's terms to the protection of voting rights.

An influential senator who asked not to be quoted by name said leadership polls indicate a majority of the Senate now favors an amendment by Senators Anderson (D-NM) and Aiken (R-Vt) to narrow the bill's scope.

Anderson and Aiken have proposed eliminating a section which would authorize the attorney general to seek injunctions to enforce civil rights, including desegregation of schools and other public places.

LIMITED TO VOTES

If the amendment were adopted, the proposed authority of the attorney general to intervene would be limited to cases involving voting rights.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) told reporters he believes the vote on the amendment will be close but at this point I don't believe the section would be stricken from the bill."

As an indication he wasn't certain of any such results, however, Knowland joined with Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) yesterday in a move to strip away one portion of the controversial section.

They offered an amendment to repeal a post-Civil War reconstruction law authorizing the use of federal troops to enforce court orders. This old law had been linked in the bill to the proposed new authority for the attorney general to help enforce all civil rights.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) said this move constituted an admission he was correct when he told the Senate two weeks ago that the House bill would authorize "beyond" enforcement of integration in the South.

Knowland and Humphrey acted after President Eisenhower had told his news conference he couldn't imagine any circumstances that would ever induce him to use federal troops to enforce court orders.

Cross also declined to call a special union convention to review its activities.

The AFL-CIO has ousted Teamsters President Dave Beck as a federation vice president and executive councilman, but Beck still is at the helm of the Teamsters Union. A number of other Teamsters officials have been questioned in Senate committee hearings on alleged mishandling of union funds.

It is believed the ethical practices group wants to limit the hearings here on the Teamsters and Bakers unions in order to have at least preliminary findings ready for a meeting of the powerful AFL-CIO Executive Council Aug. 11 in Chicago.

The council is expected to take some action intended to spur the two unions into cleanup activities.

U. S. Blasts Hoffa 'Scheme'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government prosecutor told a Federal Court jury today James B. Hoffa and Hyman F. Fischbach "convinced" a scheme to subvert and destroy the usefulness of the Senate Rackets Committee.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Edward P. Tamm, opening final arguments to the jury in Hoffa's bribery-conspiracy trial, acknowledged that John Cye Cheasty "deceived" both Hoffa and Fischbach.

Hoffa and Fischbach are accused of bribing Cheasty to get a job with the Senate committee and used Hoffa confidential data on its operations.

Troxell said that Cheasty had not pretended to go along, "the scheme cooked up by Hoffa and Fischbach" which had destroyed the committee.

Hoffa has testified that he hired Cheasty to help represent his interests in the final arrangements which Hoffa heads. Not until his own arrest, Hoffa said, did he know that Cheasty worked for the committee.

Troxell said "the evidence is abundantly clear that Hoffa wanted a spy in the committee."

Evening Prayer

Heavenly Father, it is with grateful hearts that we come before Thee. Help us ever to keep the pattern of Christ before us. Help us to realize the power of redemption through the crucified and risen Lord. Teach us to exercise Christlike love as we use our robust freedoms to lead others to Thee. We ask it in His name, Amen.

New Miss USA Embraces Her Cousin Barbara

Title For Marylander Go-For-Broke Pays Off Giant Jackpot

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A "go-for-broke" gamble in which two beautiful girls pooled their money to back one of them in the Miss Universe contest paid off today for Leona Gae, 21, the new Miss U. S. of America.

The tall, raven-haired beauty from Glen Burnie, Md., who came west with her 24-year-old cousin, a $45,000 and high hopes, "on the coveted crown last night and will now compete in the international phase of the contest."

SCRAPPED UP $45

The gamble that led to the thrill-packed climax was taken two months ago when Leona and her cousin, Barbara Gae, who make their home together, scraped together $45 and went shopping for a gown so Leona could enter the Miss Maryland contest.

"I had $35 and she had $10," said Barbara, as she watched the pearl-studded Miss U.S. gown being placed on the dark locks of her cousin. She added, "We had made the money modeling and it was all we had. We found a dress marked down from $90 to $45, so we bought it. And she won!"

"But we still didn't have any money," they gave Leona a two-way ticket to Long Beach so we used both ways so I could come out, too. . . . And now she's won again!"

Barbara said Leona came to live with her two years ago after her widowed mother had remarried.

"We both modeled and we made enough to get along," Barbara said. "But I only had $20 when we got here. We figured if Leona didn't win anything we'd work — as waitresses, anything — and make enough money to get home."

"Now I guess we'll get home," she beamed.

Barbara said while Leona, as a contestant, has been living like a princess, she's been staying "in a tiny place down the street" and "living on fruit."

Leona wore her $45 Miss Maryland dress as her formal gown on the first night of the contest, but blossomed out last night in a dazzling white dress loaned to her for the occasion by a Long Beach dress shop.

"They had confidence in her and so did I," said Barbara.

The new Miss U. S. of America, the tallest girls in the contest at 5 feet 6 1/2 inches, weighs 118 pounds tastefully distributed on a 36-23-36 basis.

Leona won in the final balloting over four other lovely representatives of American beauty, the final survivors of the 44 U. S. girls who originally entered the contest.

Placing behind her in order, were Charlotte Sheffield, 20, Salt Lake City, Utah; Ruth Marie Parr, 18, St. Albans, W. Va.; Joan Adams, 23, Las Vegas, Nev.; and Carolyn McGriff, 18, Sidney, Neb.

Raise Voted For Waynick's New Position

RALEIGH (AP)—The salary of North Carolina's adjutant general was increased nearly $2,000 a year the same day Capus Wynick's appointment to the post was announced, the Budget Bureau said today.

Budget official L. D. Moore said the pay was raised from $9,200 to $11,000 by the Advisory Budget Commission last Friday.

On the same day, Gov. Hodges announced the resignation of Maj. Gen. John Hall Manning, a veteran soldier, and the appointment of Wynick, a civilian with some military service.

The 1957 Legislature had raised the adjutant general's pay from $8,410 to $9,200.

RAISE "NECESSARY"

Moore said he "supposed" the salary was raised even farther by the commission "because it was necessary to get the man the governor wanted for the job."

The raise, he added, was retroactive to July 1.

Hodges broke precedent by seeking an adjutant general outside of National Guard officers. Although Wynick has had some military experience, he mainly has followed a political career.

Retired Guard Col. Wiley Pickens, Wake County Veterans Service officer, declared the Wynick appointment is "the worst thing that could happen to the guard."

Pickens feared the appointment might throw the guard into politics.

He added, "In some states you have to check with a ward boss before commissioning anyone. I hope it won't come to that in North Carolina."

'VITAL' MISTAKE

Retired Col. J. W. Jenkins of Henderson called the Wayne appointment "one of the most vital mistakes the governor has made." He asserted, "I would hate to see the Guard messed up in politics."

Jenkins said he felt the appointment was "the worst thing going on in the Guard, but he hoped the "Guardians are better soldiers" than to resign or let
